CROP LOSS EASES IN COUNTY

Thorough Canvass Reveals Frost Damage Lighter
Than Was Feared

'GENTLEMEN'S PACT' WILL END TOMORROW

Shipments of Citrus Fruit
Resume at Once, Though Rain Blocks Picking

With the termination of the "gentlemen's agreement," whereby Orange county citrus growers and packing house executives pledged themselves to suspend shipments until actual frost damage had been determined, prominent citrus experts here today said that a thorough canvass shows that this county's losses will be much smaller than early estimates seemed to indicate.

"So far as we have been able to determine, we will be able to ship from 75 to 80 per cent of the valencias from the district south of the Santa Ana river," said L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange. "Of course, some of the fruit in Orange county was touched by the unusually heavy frosts, but, on the whole, we feel fairly optimistic. As for lemons, I think we are safe in saying that we will be able to ship at least fifty or sixty per cent of the crop."

E. L. Morris, county horticultural commissioner, was equally as sanguine, placing the valencia shipments at approximately 75 per cent and lemon shipments at about 65 per cent.

Conditions Satisfactory

"My reports, sent to Sacramento, set forth the fact that conditions in Orange county are very satisfactory," said Morris. "The growers and packing house officials in Orange county have lived up to the 'gentlemen's agreement' to the letter, and so far as I know, there has been no suggestion of prosecutions here for violation of rules governing the shipment of damaged fruit."

"This agreement, originally binding until February 6, was changed by mutual consent, and those so desiring may begin shipment tomorrow. However, I doubt if many will avail themselves of this opportunity. Heavy rains will prevent extensive picking for several days, and it probably will be late in the week before shipments are again resumed in Orange county."

Morris said that while the rain will have no material bearing upon the condition of the fruit, it was far better than high winds, which might have a tendency to dry out the fruit too rapidly, following the heavy frosts of January 19, 20 and 21.

No Prosecutions Planned

Morris said, in commenting upon the Chase water test, that while it was reliable in most cases, it was necessary that the fruit should dry thoroughly in the tests were to prove accurate. "This test could not be used to good advantage now, he declared, because the fruit is too wet. It may be used on lemons a little later, he said.

Although prosecutions were threatened in San Bernardino county because certain shippers were charged with sending out fruit showing signs of frost damage, Orange county packers declared that no such action was contemplated here. Railroads, however, will refuse to accept such fruit as may have been condemned by the state horticultural representatives.

"The only section which declined to enter into the 'gentlemen's agreement' was the eastern end of San Bernardino county," said L. D. Palmer. "In the Highland and Redlands district, I understand certain shippers are charged with shipping fruit which may have been damaged. The remainder of Southern California, including Western San Bernardino county, joined in the agreement, and lived up to its provisions."

SUGAR KING LEAVES
$2,500,000 ESTATE

DENVER, Jan. 31.—The will of the late Chester S. Morey, the "grand old man" of the sugar industry, which was filed for probate here today, bequeaths one-half of his $2,500,000 estate to his son, J. W. Morey. Four grandchildren will receive $500,000 each under the terms of the will, and the remainder of the estate is given to a daughter, Mrs. Mary Von Schroeder of Denver.

Illinois Governor Wins Separate Trial In Graft Charge Case

BY CARL VICTOR LITTLE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WAUKEGAN, Ills., Jan. 31.—Separate trials were granted Len Small, Illinois governor and Vernon Curtis, banker, accused of conspiracy to juggle millions of dollars in state funds, today by Judge Claire Edwards in Lake county circuit court.

The prosecution had indicated it would dismiss the charges if a separate trial was granted, so severe a blow was it to the state's case.

Immediately after the ruling, the governor pleaded not guilty to the charges.

SENATE FARM BLOC LEADER IN NEW POST

President Harding Appoints Senator Kenyon, Iowa, as Judge of U. S. Circuit Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Senator Kenyon, Iowa, today became judge of the eighth federal circuit.

Shortly after accepting the offer of the post from President Harding, the nomination was sent to the senate where it was confirmed immediately and unanimously.

Kenyon, leader of the senate agricultural bloc, was offered the judgeship last fall, but declined at the insistence of some of his friends in the bloc who feared it was a move to rob them of their leadership. Kenyon personally was ready to accept the job at that time, but yielded to the wishes of his colleagues. President Harding, however, failing to find a satisfactory man, renewed his tender and Kenyon accepted during a conference at the White House today.

"People will believe President Harding appointed Senator Kenyon a federal judge merely to break up the agricultural bloc in the senate," Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, declared in a speech railing at the Republican majority today.

Alaska Site of Vast Oil Field, Experts Believe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The interior department believes, from reports of its agents and explorers, that a vast oil supply can be developed in Alaska under the Arctic circle about 600 miles north of Fairbanks.

Secretary Fall's office announced this afternoon it is prepared to do what it can toward development of this region and said a California group, names of which were not available, intends to put $3,000,000 into exploration of this dreary region in the hope that rich oil can be profitably obtained.

These resources, characterized by the White House as new and "undreamed of" do not constitute, however, a "boom" find yet, and the department, while encouraging development, does not desire to create the impression that a new Eldorado is at hand immediately.

WILL PLAN COURSE FOR GRADE SCHOOLS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—Miss Katherine McLaughlin, assistant professor of education at the University of Southern California, has been named to prepare a suggestive course of study for California schools, Dr. Margaret McNaught, commissioner of elementary schools, announced today.

The appointment of Miss McLaughlin follows the passing of a resolution at the last convention of city and county superintendents at Coronado, asking for such a course.

Congresswoman Defends 'Flappers'; Says Mothers Set Pace for Young

By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Representative Alice M. Robertson, Oklahoma, only woman in congress, rose today in vigorous defense of the "flapper."

Miss Robertson admitted that the 1922 girl, with her knee-skirt, low-necked dress, rouge and "debutante slouch," is open to criticism, but said:

"You can blame her mother."

"As the mothers flap, so flap the youngsters," Miss Robertson said.

"The modern mother is responsible. She sets the pace and her daughter follows. While mother is flapping around at an afternoon tea or at a reception or bridge game, daughter goes out flapping in an auto. It's only natural."

BOY SCOUT MEN AWAIT GUN FOR $12,500 DRIVE IN COUNTY

With some of the most prominent men and women in Orange county actively identified with the movement, with teams and committee heads primed for action, and with the annual meeting of the Orange county council of Boy Scouts disposed of in Anaheim last night, all was in readiness today for the three day drive, starting tomorrow which is designed to raise $12,500 for the Boy Scout fund in this county.

Influential citizens and Scout executives who attended the annual meeting last night were unanimous in expressing their belief that the fund-raising campaign would be a marked success and predicted heavy contributions on the first day of the drive.

Prominent among the speakers who addressed the county council's guests were D. Eymann Huff, Major M. B. Wellington, Charles N. Miller, the Rev. Thomas Walker and others.

"We desire to reach every boy in Orange county eligible for membership," said D. Eymann Huff. "We hope to run our membership up to 1000 in this county, but we shall not rest content with this number."

2500 Boys Eligible

"There are fully 2500 boys eligible for membership in Orange county and it will be our aim to bring them into the fold. The man who contributes to this fund need have no fear that his money will be thrown away. The strictest economy will be practiced. Every contributor will receive reports showing exactly what is being done at all times."

"I feel no hesitancy in saying that this is the very biggest thing we can do in this county," said Major Wellington, in summarizing the aims of those behind the Boy Scout drive.

"The boys are the very life blood of our country and it is our duty to give them every chance to make good. The youth of today is the man of tomorrow. We should never desist in our efforts to make good men to take our places. The present year is bright with promise and I predict that this drive, which means so very much for Orange county, will be a pronounced success."

Anaheim Gives Warning

Major Wellington took occasion to compliment Harry D. Riley and Anaheim citizens who have organized to raise Anaheim's quota in record time.

"The spirit of all the workers in the other districts is fine," said Wellington, "but I have had a chance to watch Anaheim's preparations for this campaign, and I would say to the leaders in other districts, 'Keep your eye on Anaheim. She certainly is going to lead you a good chase.'"

The constitution and by-laws of the county council were read by Wellington, and these together with the annual report read by D. Eymann Huff, were approved by the council.

Despite inclement weather, a large number of men and women, intensely interested in the Boy Scout movement, attended the banquet and the enthusiasm was spontaneous. A splendid dinner was served in the cafeteria of the Anaheim Union high school. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Stresses Crime Problem

"Criminal instincts assert themselves early in life," said a letter written by Warden Johnson, and read to the county council at last night's meeting.

"More than one-half of the prisoners received at Santa Quentin are under thirty, one-third are under twenty-six, and a very large number are under twenty-one."

"The crime problem is a big problem. If we would only spend more time in making citizens, we would

AUTO CLUB RESCUES SNOWED IN PARTIES ALONG RIDGE ROUTE

(United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—The Automobile Club of Southern California's relief motor truck, pushing northward through three and four feet of snow on the Ridge route to the relief of stranded motorists, has reached National Forest Inn, according to a telephone report received today.

Twelve automobile loads of snowed in tourists were rescued en route, the report said.

The truck will probably try to push its way on through to Lebec, from which urgent calls for aid have been received, the inn reported.

No word had been received here early today from the rescue party led by County Supervisors McFarland and Way which left here last night in an attempt to force its way through Lebec to aid stranded motorists.

NEW WITNESS TO HINT CRIMINAL TAKE STAND IN FATTY'S CASE

(United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Testimony of medical experts marked today's session of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle's trial, for alleged responsibility for the death of Virginia Rappe.

Dr. Rufus Higby, physician, declared he did not believe a sudden muscular contraction caused by a cold bath or a shock could have inflicted upon Miss Rappe the injuries from which she died.

He was followed by Joe Radeaux, Miss Rappe's physical instructor, who testified she had engaged him to direct her in exercises designed to reduce her weight.

"She insisted on using a nine-pound medicine ball," he declared. "She was a remarkably strong woman. She could walk over the hills and could wrestle with me almost like a man."

Further delay in sending the case to the jury appeared probably today when the state announced that it had discovered a new "mystery witness" in Los Angeles. It is probable, according to the state attorneys that this witness will arrive in San Francisco today and be called to the stand.

PORTLAND, Jan. 31.—Fatty Arbuckle, if he is acquitted, need not worry about a job.

Eddie La Montagne, who conducts a unique play circuit, using his audiences as his players, has wired the comedian an offer of $2,500 week to come to Oregon to play the star roles in his impromptu performances.

La Montagne calls his performances "country store attractions."

CLOSES ARGUMENTS IN DIVORCE HEARING

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 31.—Arguing that everybody in the Mary Pickford-Owen Moore divorce case was happy, except Attorney General Fowler of Nevada, Gavin McNab, "little Mary's" chief counsel, yesterday placed the matrimonial fate of "America's sweetheart" before the final court of appeal—the supreme justice of the state of Nevada.

McNab charged that Fowler was attempting a "gratuitous and meddlesome action without any standing or precedent at law."

A decision is not expected before two or three months.

VOTERS TO PASS ON BOND TOTAL OF $456,000 IN MARCH

That the city council will submit to the voters of Santa Ana at the sewer bond election to be held in March an issue of bonds for installation of a generating plant at the water works for developing electricity for street lighting was disclosed last night at an adjourned session with the reading of a resolution declaring public necessity for certain municipal improvements.

An error in the number of feet of pipe designated as needed for one of the proposed sewer installations prevented adoption of the resolution last night and it was passed over to an adjourned session at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the correction to be made in the meantime.

The total issue of bonds will be $456,000. The items entering into the total are given in a statement in adjoining columns.

The proposed issues were not discussed in council meeting, agreements having been reached in conferences.

Bonds for the auto camping park on North Main, which is being developed by the Chamber of Commerce, and an issue for the purchase of a public park site in the McCadden tract, or some other location, were not included, it being stated by a member of the council that the improvements provided for were immediate essentials, while the two parks were not.

Installation of an electric plant at the water works is proposed to relieve the council of an embarrassing position developing in the installation of ornamental lighting systems. Systems proposed on North Broadway and East Fifth have been held up by reason of the fact that the council cannot see its way clear to pay for the current under the present costs. It was suggested sometime ago by a group of local citizens that the city should provide a plant at the municipal water works for furnishing electricity for the streets and municipal buildings.

It is proposed to install two 200-horse power boilers, two 175-horse power compound steam-condensing engines, two 175-horsepower electric generators and six miles of wire.

Where Paving Planned

West Fifth street is to be paved full width from Baker to Artesia with six-inch concrete in center and four-inch concrete each side, the whole to be surfaced with one and one-half inches of asphalt. From Artesia to the city limits, three-foot shoulders of seven-inch concrete will be laid on each side of the present pavement, breaks in the pavement will be repaired and the roadway between the shoulders will be filled in with two inches of asphalt. The present pavement being five inches, it is proposed that the city contribute $22,000 to this improvement, the property owners to pay the remainder of the cost.

West Seventeenth street will be improved from Ross to the city limits, with pavement of six-inch concrete and one-and-a-half-inch surface, with a width of twenty feet. If the bonds carry, the city will contribute $16,000 to the expense, the property owners to pay the remainder.

This improvement will make Seventeenth street a paved thoroughfare from the western to the eastern city limits, for the council last night adopted a resolution instructing the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications for paving Seventeenth east from Ross to San

Legion Chief In Bitter War On Bonus Foes; Says Men Need Aid

(United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Between 600,000 and 900,000 ex-service men are walking the streets out of work, "wondering why congress doesn't help them," Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, told the house ways and means committee today, urging immediate passage of the bonus bill.

"The longer congress delays the bonus," MacNider declared, "the more ill will the men and women who served will store up toward the government."

The legion, MacNider said, will conduct a comprehensive campaign to get the veterans to choose the insurance or home help options of the proposed bonus measure, which he said, would cost the government less money.

"But," he declared, "with so many of our men walking the streets hunting for jobs, the legion feels we have no right to say that any man shall not take the cash payments. This is the veterans' prerogative and he earned the right to use it."

MacNider rapped Secretary Mellon for his stand against the bonus.

"Instead of opposing the bill, but pointing out the difficulties of financing it," MacNider declared, "Mellon would do better by finding and suggesting proper methods of raising the money. The nation, whom Mellon is supposed to be serving, wants this debt paid."

MacNider branded as false the statement of bonus opponents that the ex-service men are divided on the bonus.

John Thomas Taylor, legislative representative of the legion, told the committee that in his opinion 80 per cent of those entitled to a bonus would choose the paid-up insurance policy which would eventually bring them three and a half times as much money as the cash option.

Seven Families Periled as Mystery Bomb Demolishes S. F. Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Lives of the members of seven families were endangered and considerable property damage done early today by a bomb exploding in the doorway of a frame apartment house at No. 2 Montague place, on Telegraph hill.

The front of the building was practically wrecked, and windows in a radius of 200 yards were shattered.

Police who said they believed the explosion was due to a bomb with a time fuse drew a cordon around the district and searched for suspicious characters but with no success.

The bomb had been placed directly beneath the apartment of Alfonso Murciano.

ARREST YOUTH AS AUTHOR OF DEATH THREAT

Jealousy and Despondency Said To Have prompted Actor To Threaten San Diego Girl.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 31.—A note found on the front porch of the home of Juanita Strong, 18, said: "You have signed your death warrant; I am going to kill you."

Richard Collum, 20, actor, who has been friendly with the girl for several months, is in jail, accused of writing the note and admits the charge, officers say.

"I saw her dodge me on the street," he said at his arraignment. "I was broke and discouraged anyhow, and it was more than I could bear."

The girl's mother was prostrated by the note. Her father swore to the charge against the boy.

Fire Hose Aids Police to Take Daring Gunman

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Ranier Murray, who shot and fatally wounded Patrolman Daniel McShane and then barricaded himself in a house, was captured today after a revolver battle in which scores of police and firemen participated.

The battle lasted nearly an hour during which hundreds of shots were exchanged. Firemen directed two high pressure streams of water into the house, forcing the negro to flee to the roof where he was captured.

CABINET TAKES UP MUSCLE SHOALS BID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Secretary of War Weeks will send Henry Ford's contract to congress Thursday. He will make his recommendations regarding it at that time.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—President Harding and his cabinet today discussed Henry Ford's offer for the Muscle Shoals, Ala., nitrate and power plant.

Secretary of War Weeks, before going to the session, stated that he wished to discuss the matter with the president and the other members of the cabinet before submitting the contract signed by Ford and his office to congress along with his "comments."

"30" BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The full limitation of armament committee of the conference today finally approved the naval treaty. Formal approval by the five signatory powers will be given at a plenary session of the arms conference at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—A tremendous earthquake northward is on somewhere between 2400 and 2,500 miles distant south of Washington, Father Francis Tondor of Georgetown university declared today on the basis of seismograph records in his observatory.

The quake first registered at 8:05 a. m. and continued with increasing intensity until 8:36 when the needle of the seismograph was thrown off the scale. The tremors were still being registered on other instruments at 11 a. m., he said.

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 31.—Violent earth vibrations were recorded by the seismograph at the University of California today beginning at 5:13 a. m., the motion lasting until 5 a. m.

The needle of the recording machine was thrown out of action, making the readings difficult to interpret accurately.

According to University seismograph experts the center of the disturbance was not more than 500 miles distant, but this they qualified as a "rough estimate."

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Earth tremors recorded at Chicago university today were placed 1,870 miles from the city. This indicated the disturbance was probably in the region of the Pacific, as Eastern seismograph experts placed the distance at more than 2,500 miles.

Redding and Red Bluff Building Sway Giddily During Disturbance

DENVER, Jan. 31.—The most severe earth tremors ever recorded on the seismograph at Sacred Heart college were registered on the instrument this afternoon, according to Father William Forstall of the college. The tremors continued for an hour.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Most of California from San Francisco north and Southern Oregon were shaken early today by an earthquake which seismographs throughout the United States recorded as violent.

In San Francisco the shock was only heavy enough to rattle windows and awaken the lightest sleepers.

It seemed to be heaviest, according to early reports, in the district composed of that part of California lying north of Redding and in Southern Oregon.

Reports Two Shocks

Two shocks were felt at Roesburg, Ore., the first at 3:20 and the second at 5 a. m.

The second was the heaviest, lasting 15 seconds and awakening the entire town.

In Eugene, Ore., the quake was sufficiently violent to rattle crockery. One shock was held there at 5:20 a. m.

At Redding, Calif., the shock probably was the heaviest. Rough estimates were that it lasted nearly half a minute. It occurred at 5:25 a. m.

Frame Buildings Sway

At Redding the quake was described as imparting to buildings a motion like they were riding the waves on the sea, the buildings being unbalanced by sudden sharp shocks, as if they were suddenly struck a heavy blow. Hundreds of citizens were awakened and many left their beds.

At Red Bluff the shock was sufficiently heavy to cause frame building to sway giddily.

Telephone reports from Weaver, Yreka, Dunsmuir, Fall River, Mills and Wood, all in the extreme northern part of California, were that the quake had been felt, in varying degrees of intensity. It was also felt at Klamath Falls, Ore. No damage was reported.

Instruments Broken

The seismograph at Santa Clara university, located at Santa Clara, some fifty miles south of here, was broken. Father Ricard characterized it as "a wonderful record" from the scientific viewpoint.

"It was a very great disturbance," Father Ricard told the United Press. The record was such that it will take a few hours to compile the readings for possible location and duration, Father Ricard said.

COUNTY SCORES BIG POINT IN TAX BATTLE

BIRCH LOSER IN OPENING ROUND OF CLASH FOR BIG REFUND

Preliminary skirmishing was under way in department two of the superior court today as the trial of the Birch Oil company's suit to recover approximately $17,000 in taxes, paid to Orange county under protest, entered its early stages.

The first move made by the defense to block the oil company's suit was executed soon after the trial opened today, being designed to eliminate at one blow nearly half of the amount claimed as excess taxes, on the ground that the purpose for which the tax was collected is not, under the law, subject to protest.

This move took the form of a motion by L. A. West, of counsel for the defense, for permission to amend the county's answer to the suit. This permission was granted.

West stated that prior to the first trial it had been stated by the Birch company and admitted by the county that the tax rate fixed for 1916-7, the year involved in the protest, was $3.36.

Seeks to Make Denial.

After investigating, the county now wishes to deny that such rate was fixed and to assert that the county rate that year was fixed at $1.95, the school tax rate was $1.09 and there was a rate of 32 cents for road improvement district No. 1, in which the Birch properties are located. This amendment was desired, West said, on the ground that the law provides that protests can apply only to taxes for state and county purposes, and could not apply to taxes for school or road purposes.

The county, therefore, expects to contend that only that portion of the $17,000 protested by the Birch company which was raised under the county rate of $1.95 is subject to protest; rather than the entire sum, which was raised under a rate of $3.36.

The Birch taxes that year amounted to approximately $19,500 on an assessed valuation of $600,000. The Birch company protested that its assessment should have been only $32,000 and its tax approximately $2,500.

Under High Court Order.

The trial opened at 10 a. m. before Judge R. V. Williams, in pursuance to an order from the state supreme court to hear all of the is-

HOME LOVE TERMED BIG BUILDING STONE

"The love of home that is deep down in the heart of every individual is the greatest building stone upon which any city can be founded," declared Harry Culver, founder of Culver City at a luncheon today of the Santa Ana Rotary club and the Santa Ana Realty board, at St. Ann's Inn.

Culver declared that a satisfied customer is an asset to any tract, subdivision or city that is being placed on the market.

In the up-building of a town, Culver declared that resourcefulness is a big thing, just as it is a big thing in any business.

Santa Ana Rotary club's attendance last week was 100 per cent for the ninth time. This is setting a new record in attendance for clubs of fifty members or more.

Today's Rotary meeting was turned over by Alex Brownridge, committee chairman, to Freeman H. Bloodgood, realty board chairman, and E. A. White, publicity committee chairman of the realty board. It became, as planned, a realty gathering.

C. C. Tatum of Los Angeles, president of the State real estate dealers' association, was a speaker. Tatum declared that a man's church affiliation does not count so much as does the fact whether the man is 100 per cent man and American.

O. A. Vickery and G. B. Willaman, both of Los Angeles, prominent in the state realty association, were guests today.

In twenty-four hours a toad consumes an amount of food equal to four times the capacity of its stomach.

Nearest distance Mars comes to the earth is 35,000,000 miles.

Issues involved in the case, which was first elected from court in 1917 without a complete trial, when Judge W. H. Thomas, then presiding over the superior court, granted a motion for non-suit.

Attorney Woodruff and Shoemaker, of Los Angeles, are conducting the Birch company's attack upon Orange county assessments, which forms the groundwork for the protest. District Attorney A. P. Nelson, assisted by L. A. West, former district attorney, who was in the office during 1917 and fought the first trial of the action, were handling the county's defense.

County Assessor James Sleeper was the first to take the witness stand. Sleeper was called as an adverse witness by the plaintiffs, and testified to valuations placed upon land in Brea canyon, where the Birch properties are situated. The oil company contends that their property is assessed out of proportion to adjacent land.

Pair of Giants Beneath Overturned Flivver Simply Toss Wreck Aside

(Special to The Register)

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 31.—The overturning of a Ford means nothing in the life of a heavyweight, even though the heavy gentleman happens to be pinned beneath the flivver.

Such, at least, was the statement of George H. Clapp, son of L. W. Clapp, Chamber of Commerce executive and prominent realtor here.

Young Clapp, who tips the beam at about 240, was riding with Joseph F. Wilson, another heavyweight, when a small car driven by M. E. Hartman, owner of the Commercial Garage here, collided with the Clapp chariot at Fifth and Walnut streets.

Clapp and Wilson were pinned beneath the Ford when the car overturned.

"What'll we do?" asked Wilson. "Do?" said Clapp. "Why, we'll kick her off of course. Now, then, all together. Let's kick."

The two heavies, lying upon their backs beneath the car, then proceeded to kick off the incubus and emerged from the wreckage unscathed. Hartman received minor injuries. Both cars were somewhat damaged.

SCOUT MEN PREPARE FOR FUND CAMPAIGN

not have to spend so much time and money in remaking them."

Charles N. Miller, regional Scout executive, in an inspiring address, told the assembled guests that California spent $41,000,000 in 1921 to fight crime.

"Our prisoners are jammed with men and boys who yielded to temptation," said Miller. "How did they get there? They never had a chance in life. If every father and mother were doing their full duty toward their children, we would not need such movements as this."

"The big thing in scouting is not the Boy Scout himself, but it is the men behind the Scout. We need the man-power. The best Scout executive is the father of boys. The field is before you. The boys are your gold. Dig them out."

Miller, in the course of his address brought out the fact that there are only 400 paid workers in the Boy Scout movement. He said the major portion of the work was done by 200,000 laymen who receive no compensation other than the priceless moral reward which is bestowed in return for every good deed.

Invest in Character. "It is undoubtedly true that the world is growing better," said A. V. Napier, a member of the Santa Ana Rotary club, commenting here today upon the Boy Scout drive scheduled to begin tomorrow morning. "At least it is growing wiser, and wisdom is not likely to lead the world astray."

"It is beyond question that the present generation of men has made greater progress along the lines of morality, education and right living than the generations that marched before. The greatest question to be answered by the world today is: 'What is the next generation to do about it?'"

"The plan of the Orange County council is to provide equipment and accommodations for 40 troops, totaling 1,000 boys. The cost will be about one dollar a month for each boy. Those providing this money regard it as a direct investment in good character. Could there be a better investment?"

TRUSTEES TRANSACT ADJOURNED BUSINESS

L. G. Swales this afternoon was granted permission to erect a temporary corrugated iron building on his lot on the east side of Main street, between First and Walnut, action being taken by the city council in an adjourned session.

Application of Edward Daly for permission to erect an electric sign post in front of a barber shop at 117 West Third was referred to city electrician, as was application from C. Bondley to erect a barber sign at 115½ West Fourth.

Invitation by Joseph O. Smith to the board to attend the inaugural banquet meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board at St. Ann's Inn next Thursday night of this week, as guests of the board, was accepted. Mayor Mitchell will make a three-minute talk. The invitation included wives of members of the council.

JURY CONVICTS MAN ON CHARGE OF FRAUD ON BOND TOTAL OF $456,000

After deliberating one hour the jury at 2:40 this afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against J. K. Woods, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Sentence will be passed next Friday morning at nine o'clock.

The offense of which Woods was convicted carries a penalty of from one to ten years in the state penitentiary.

The defense of J. K. Woods, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with the sale of desert lots as promising oil property to Anaheim citizens, was scheduled to deliver its arguments for acquittal when court convened this afternoon in department one of the superior court.

The state's arguments were delivered just before the noon recess. Woods, taking the stand in his own defense today, declared that he had acted in good faith in selling the oil lots, being himself under the impression, from newspaper reports of oil activity in the Aqueduct City region and from the fact that an oil company was being formed to operate there, that there were good oil prospects there.

He claimed that he had not told the buyers that oil was assured immediately. He told them, he said, that it might be next month or it might be ten years. He failed to remember, when asked by Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley, just whom he had told it might be ten years before oil was found, but he said that Mrs. Laura Resh, the Anaheim real estate dealer, who had introduced him to the various buyers had heard him make such statements.

The prosecution rested its case today after introducing four buyers of Aqueduct City "oil lots," but a surveyor who definitely located the town-site for them, and an old resident of Mojave, described actual conditions at Aqueduct City in a much different manner than the buyers claimed Woods had described it to them.

ATTEMPT RESCUE OF SNOW BOUND PARTY

(United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—A second attempt to bring out eighteen snow bound "hikers" from the summit of Mount Tamalpais was made today when a train left Mill valley in an attempt to reach the summit.

Reports to the Mount Tamalpais railway offices indicated that there were good prospects of the train getting through.

The party has been snowbound since Saturday night.

BOARD DROPS PLANS TO BUILD NEW JAIL

Decision to drop plans for building a new county jail, probably until next year, was reached by the board of supervisors today, when they voted 3 to 2 against proceeding with plans recently adopted.

The board was divided on the question of whether to proceed now with a modified plan for a jail, that would cost, according to bids submitted, $136,126, or to wait, perhaps until next year, when general conditions might be more favorable for the project.

Supervisors S. H. Finley and Howard Wassum favored immediate action, while Supervisors N. T. Edwards and William Schumacher counseled postponement on the ground that the present was an inauspicious time for incurring the expense of a jail building.

Chairman T. B. Talbert voted with Edwards and Schumacher on a roll call, against acceptance of the bids of E. C. English, $105,000, on the general contract; S. Hill and Son, $22,387, for plumbing, and $8,739 for heating. Bids on cell work, dumb waiter and elevator had not been considered, the plan being to omit these features for the present.

This action called for a rejection of all bids, which was next accomplished.

DAHL'S ASSESSMENTS ON MAIN WILL STAND, DECISION

Assessments made by Edward Dahl, street superintendent, for paving and installation of ornamental lights on Main street north from Seventeenth to the city limits, stand as originally made, the council last night, by resolution, denying the protest filed by corner lot owners against distribution of costs of paving intersections.

Discussion of paving on Bristol street was revived with the appearance before the council of John Sebastian with reference to storm waters flooding his property and doing damage to his orange orchard. Sebastian said that he did not want to bear the burden of storm waters all the time and asked that something be done. The council promised to make investigations with a view to ascertaining what can be done with storm waters in the event the street is paved.

Abandonment of Brown street across the Santa Fe tracks and east and opening of Sixth street across the Santa Fe property is proposed in plans being developed by F. P. Jayne, of the California Crater company, and George Ketcher, nurseryman. They presented a map showing proposed changes and asked approval of the council, which was given. Jayne will conduct negotiations with the Santa Fe. A north and south street from Fourth north and starting at a point 200 feet east of the Santa Fe tracks at Fourth, is proposed also.

Order More Paving. N. G. Allen and T. H. Setzer, property owners on French, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, protested against paving that block unless the connecting block, Washington to Fourteenth, was paved. The council ordered plans and specifications prepared for paving the block with six-inch concrete.

That Mrs. Ida B. Ashby is contemplating subdivision of her twelve acres lying north of Hickey and between English and Hawley streets was disclosed by the presentation by her son, J. L. Ashby, of a tentative map of the proposed subdivision. Sewer in the district is necessary, and Ashby was requested to hold subdivision plans until after the sewer bond election. If the bonds fail the city cannot provide sewer for the tract.

Miscellaneous Business. Mayor John G. Mitchell and City Clerk Ed. Vegely were directed to approve a petition to the state railroad commission, asking permission to install street crossing on the Pacific Electric right of way on the Huntington Beach branch to be forwarded by Ashby Turner and P. G. Beissel. The two men have subdivisions on Orange avenue and desire to extend streets across the tracks.

Application of J. W. Walker, for permission to plant park trees on his property at 903 West Chestnut, was referred to the park commission.

Notice that the state railroad commission will make an investigation into the rates of the Southern California Edison company, with the hearing set for February 27, was received by the council and City Attorney G. H. Scott was directed to represent the city.

SANTA ANA ODDFELLOWS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Members of Santa Ana Canton today owed allegiance to a new official staff, following a successful installation of officers held last night at Odd Fellows hall.

Col. Frederick Shapley of San Diego acted as installing officer, assisted by B. Utley and Roger Labadie of this city, and the following staff was presented for installation: captain, Frank F. Adams; lieutenant, W. H. Peterkin; ensign, R. F. Dryer; clerk, W. H. Morrison; accountant, George E. Peters.

Canton officers from Los Angeles, Riverside, San Pedro and Long Beach were present, and many of these responded with short talks when called upon.

SUGAR COMPANY HEAD TAKES NEW POSITION

E. M. Smiley, for several years past manager of the Santa Ana Sugar company at Dyer, has severed his connection with the company and will supervise subdivision of the McFadden tract on South Main. Smiley tendered his resignation some weeks ago to become effective February 1. Harry Leikhy, formerly assistant district manager for the Edison company, was recently appointed to succeed Smiley.

February 11, it was announced today, has been set as the date for the meeting of the Orange county branch of the California Honey Producers' Co-operative exchange, to be held in the farm bureau office for the purpose of considering a new contract with the state exchange and the formation of a new organization.

Although recovering slowly from burns about the face and arms sustained when his 30-foot power launch, The Vera, caught fire in Newport harbor January 16, Dr. J. H. Simpson is still confined to his home, 307 Garney street, under the care of a physician. The burns about his hands and arms are not completely healed, it was stated.

Absence of a quorum at the annual meeting of the Santa Ana Industrial fund last evening prevented the election of trustees for the coming year. The present officials will be retained temporarily.

The complaint for a new barber shop for Edward Daley was being installed at 117 West Third street today. Daley expects to be open for business Saturday. It will be a three-chair shop. One of the barbers in the new shop will be Joe Wolfe, who has been working in the Princess shop. Edward Daley has a wide acquaintance in Santa Ana.

Directors of the Orange County Farmers' and Merchants' association, organized for the purpose of installing a mutual telephone system in the county, were prepared today to meet at the office of the farm bureau here at 7:30 o'clock tonight. H. B. Woodrugh, of Costa Mesa, secretary of the organization, called the meeting.

Miss Isabel Dugan, county nurse, dairy inspector, assistant medical inspector and secretary of the Orange County Welfare conference, today stated that the impression that babies are to be weighed and inspected at tomorrow night's meeting of the conference at the home of Mrs. W. H. Thomas, 425 West First street, is erroneous. The meeting will be a closed one, she said. The conference will take up various problems in connection with welfare work in the county.

Silver Cord Lodge No. 505, F. & A. M., will confer the 3rd degree Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 7:30 p. m. Sojourning brethren invited. Refreshments. WM. W. JONES, Master.

City and County

Members of the farm bureau executive committee will meet at the farm bureau office here next Thursday afternoon at 1:30 to plan for the annual meeting of that organization, February 17.

A Santa Ana group of Chandler enthusiasts today were recalling their experiences with snow on a trip to Camp Baldy last Sunday. At points on the road eighteen inches of snow was encountered and the party had no difficulty in negotiating the roads, according to I. W. Turner, sales manager for Charles L. Davis, Chandler agent for the south half of the county. While the party was at lunch snow piled up on the hood of the car to the top of the lower half of the windshield. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cutbert, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stevens, Charles L. Davis, Mrs. Ocia Harden, Mrs. Beatty, mother of Davis, and Turner.

John B. Bicken, Medford Ore., today informed the directors of the dairy department of the farm bureau that he would accept the position of cow tester made vacant recently by the resignation of J. W. Soden. Bicken expects to arrive in Orange county in about two weeks to begin his work. For several years he has been in charge of the Rogue River Cow Testing association in Oregon, and is considered well fitted to fulfill his duties here.

The rainstorm caused a postponement of a contemplated trip today to Santa Barbara by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce for investigation of the auto camp park in that city. The committee is planning to visit various camps in Southern California to gather information that will be of service in planning improvements to be made by the Chamber on the camp site on Santiago creek, east of the North Main street bridge.

Several residents of Idaho and Montana of a total number of 400 who are expected to arrive in Los Angeles via the Union Pacific on two special trains February 2 will probably visit Santa Ana, C. S. Browne, local agent for the railroad, announced today.

Rooms have been reserved at St. Ann's Inn for next Friday, for Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Doane of Boston, Mass. Doane is a member of the well known firm of Barker, Harris and Kehriahn of Boston, Mass., merchandise brokers and commission merchants, with which Stockton Wheaton, formerly of Santa Ana, is now connected.

W. R. Chadbourne, representing the Durham-Duplex Razor company, is in Santa Ana making arrangements for a "priceless" sale of razors. The plan will be of wide scope, all local razor dealers participating, it was announced.

Sessions at Lincoln and Logan schools were resumed today. These schools were closed yesterday because of poor gas pressure which made adequate heating impossible, according to the school authorities.

PRISON GUARD'S WIFE CHARGES JEALOUSIES

Charles A. Aiston, a guard at San Quentin penitentiary, was so unreasonably jealous that he went so far as to see wrong in his wife receiving a post card from an elderly man who was her friend in childhood, according to a complaint for divorce which his wife, Maude A. Aiston, caused to be filed in superior court here today.

Aiston's alleged jealousy, the wife set forth, caused her to be falsely accused and resulted in asserted threats on his part to kill both her and himself.

The elderly man who figured in the alleged episode of the post card was only one of a number of men with whom Aiston accused his wife of having been unduly familiar, the plaintiff recited.

A climax came, the wife asserted, when Aiston ordered her to leave their home at San Quentin. This, she said, occurred August 20, last.

The couple have one child, a son, aged 7, whose custody the wife asks. She demands also $25 a month alimony, stating that her husband makes $120 a month in his capacity as guard at the penitentiary.

POISON VICTIM SHOWS DECIDED IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Thomas Edwards, 23, of Santa Ana, who has been critically ill in the Los Angeles county hospital, was greatly improved last night, according to H. E. Davis, an uncle of Edwards, who returned to this city today from Los Angeles. Edwards is asserted to have swallowed mercury poison because of despondency due to disappointment in love.

Davis, accompanied by his wife, visited Edwards at the hospital and said the patient was comfortable and cheerful, and informed his nurse that he craved candy and ice cream. With Edwards were his mother, Mrs. J. M. Edwards, Seattle; his sister, Mrs. T. R. Williams, Walnut Park; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Daniel, Tustin, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Davis of this city.

HOLDUP SUSPECT SAID TO FEIGN LOST MEMORY

Said to be feigning insanity, a man who described himself as I. G. Hunt, 26, of Long Beach, was in the city jail at Fullerton today, on suspicion of having been the man who while attempting to commit a holdup, fired a revolver shot at Waldo Wheeler in a tent on the outskirts of Fullerton at 8 o'clock last night.

City Marshal Arthur Eells of Fullerton, arrested Hunt on the Brea road fifteen minutes after the alleged holdup. One cartridge in a revolver Hunt was asserted to have been carrying had been exploded.

Wheeler and three young men who were in the tent with him refused the alleged bandit's first command to hold up their hands. The gunman then fired a shot in an effort to intimidate the four men. The bullet narrowly missed Wheeler's head.

Shamming insanity at the Fullerton city jail, Hunt said he remembered nothing of the occurrence. City Marshal Eells said he found in the place where Hunt roomed, on Santa Fe street, a number of packed goods, together with indications that other supposedly stolen property had been shipped by the occupant of the room.

BANDIT HOLDS UP P.E. CONDUCTOR AT ARTESIA

Sought by the authorities of two counties for robbing the conductor of a P. E. car en route from Los Angeles to Santa Ana, while the motorman and a dozen passengers were unaware of his act, a bandit who disappeared into the night after his daring feat was still at liberty today.

E. W. Linsey, of Los Angeles, conductor of the car, was the bandit's victim, being forced to give up $35 in currency when suddenly confronted by a revolver as he stepped from the interior of the car to the rear vestibule just after the car, which is due in Santa Ana at 10:46 p. m. had passed Artesia.

The bandit, clad in a black raincoat and hat, had evidently slipped unnoticed into the rear vestibule when the car stopped at Artesia. The vestibule windows were screened by drawn curtains, so that when Linsey stepped from inside of the car, the scene in the vestibule was hidden from view of those in the passengers' compartment. Their backs were turned, as well. The motorman, in the front vestibule, also had no knowledge of what was going on.

After warning Linsey to maintain silence, the bandit, who was described as 6 feet tall and about 35 years of age, began to search the conductor. He drew $35 in bills from Linsey's trousers pocket.

"Have you any more?" he demanded.

There's a little silver in the other side pocket," Linsey told him.

The bandit did not seem interested in the silver and discontinued his search. He instructed Linsey to pull the emergency cord a half mile before reaching the next station, which was Thornton.

Linsey complied. As the car stopped, the bandit dropped off the rear steps of the car, Linsey immediately giving the signal to proceed. He was left in the darkness beside the track.

The car had reached Stanton before the robbery was known. Getting off the car to flag across a railroad crossing, Linsey informed the motorman.

Authorities at Santa Ana, Los Angeles and Artesia were notified and a search was instituted, but no trace of the bandit had been found today.

This structure, which will front 108 feet on Los Angeles and 95 feet on Alberta, will contain twenty-five modern apartments. You hear much about "fair weather friends," but our friendship and service is emphasized when the weather is at its worst. Ebell Women Retract Steps To Childhood Days, Led By Competent Guide

It isn't often given to grown-ups, to retrace their way through life and to wander for an afternoon, through the carefree paths of childhood.

But such was the experience which befell members of the Ebell club yesterday afternoon, when they gathered to hear the program of songs and stories of childhood as offered by Miss Gladys Lott, an entertainer of the East who is giving recitals through Southern California at present.

From her first little friendly greeting, Miss Lott won her hearers and it wasn't many minutes until all present were joining her in an excursion to childhood days, via the train of memory.

The program opened with a song group, the first number of which, was "A Valentine," quaintly pretty and demure as its name would indicate.

This was followed by Lisa Lehman's "The Cuckoo" which, as Miss Lott pointed out, was a study in flirtation. "Wiggly Waggle Polliwog" and "The Discontented Duckling" followed in rapid succession, and with an artistry on the part of the singer, that made each one of her hearers, picture the delight of the polliwog who found he was a "frog, my dear!" as well as the despair of the duckling, to possess a soul yet be only a duck.

Forsaking songland temporarily, Miss Lott then gave Annie Hamilton Donnell's "Little Blue Overalls" in such a convincing manner that one could see the gradual winning of two stony, spinsterish hearts, by the wiles of childhood as evidenced by "Little Blue Overalls" himself.

One number of Lisa Lehman's song cycle of childhood, was then given, "Matilda" followed by "Miss Maria" and "You'll Get Heaps of Lickins," after which Miss Lott dropped into recitative again, using "Vacation" by Bartlett, and a clever little child impersonation giving a small boy's viewpoint of the war.

"The Tail of Tales" followed, when, what were two of the most enjoyable numbers on an enjoyable program, "Somebody Did" in which Miss Lott disappeared entirely, and a wide-eyed little child took her place, to tell of the terrible things which happened in the way of ink-stains, tracked floors and raised cookie jars, when "None of us children was near." And a second equally delightful child impersonation, "Mud Nies" which almost pointed to a moral.

The program ended with a song group, Eugene Field's touching little "Grandma's Prayer," which Hageman has set to equally touching music; an amusing little four line song, "Goodness Gracious!" by Manna Zucca, which aroused a reminiscent smile on the faces of many present, and as a final offering, Lisa Lehman's exquisite "There are Fairies at the Bottom of our Garden."

It was a truly delightful afternoon for Ebell, and it was with a feeling of reluctance that the club-members left childhood's land of faerie to which they had been-guided by an artist's hand, and returned to the work-day world.

Preceding the program by Miss Lott, a short business session was held at which the lot committee was authorized by the club, to act as it saw best, in regard to purchasing the lot adjoining that owned by the club-women and upon which they plan soon to build.

Reports of the latest executive board meetings were given, one of these having taken the form of a luncheon held at James' yesterday preceding the afternoon meeting.

Introduced by Mrs. W. B. Bedford, R. E. Miller, county probation officer, made a splendidly worded plea for the co-operation of Ebell club, in establishing the parental home, and a resolution that the club sanction such an undertaking, was proposed by Mrs. Bedford and adopted by the members.

Programs for the forthcoming monthly meetings of the club until the end of the season, were distributed and a glance at the attractions promises five afternoons of enjoyment, beginning with February 27, when Dr. Henry Kendall Booth will lecture on the topic "Facing the Far East."

The other dates and attractions are, March 27, lecture recital, "Human Hope and Aspiration" by Mrs. Oscar Maillard Bennett; April 24, costume recital, Miss Alice MacKenzie, mezzo soprano and Miss Leona Neblett, violinist; May 29, interpretative reading of "David Copperfield" by Arthur Kacher and finally on June 26, a surprise program, and to all who know the splendid things of which Ebell club women are capable, this promises almost the best of all.

Among other matters of interest was the presentation of the handsome bronze cup awarded by the associated chambers of commerce of Orange county, to the best and most beautifully decorated float entered in the Armistice Day parade in November.

Mrs. Bruns, head of the committee on decorating the float, had received the cup from the C. of C. directors, and delivered it to the club yesterday. In accepting it, Mrs. Clark, the president, spoke of the attractive appearance it would make in the new clubhouse.

Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, chairman of the ways and means committee, then spoke in regard to the pledge cards taken out by the members some time ago. Mrs. Nau stated that the committee was not asking that these pledges be redeemed in any manner save in the way each card specified, but that the committee needed certain data in regard to the amounts subscribed, and would appreciate the members returning the cards so that this data might be secured and the committee learn just what its financial standing might be.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS
Among the genial clubmen which a city likes to boast, is a group of splendid K. C.'s which forms a merry host,—named to honor that great mariner who sailed the ocean blue 'till he reached a new world's boundaries in 1492. And as men of tested chivalry in every cause for right, they may wear with truth and honor, the special rank of Knight.

Santa Ana's thriving council, has a growing membership. Practically one hundred members know the password and the grip. And while many a merry session offers mirth and joy for all, yet there's more than mirth and laughter in the pleasant K. C. hall. Little orphans are befriended—while the lame, the halt, the blind, have the help from knights and brothers who to pity are inclined.

As the Grand Knight of the council, Dr. Connelly stands supreme while his deputy is Kramer, and the chaplain, it would seem is the Rev. Father Eummelen, in whom, works and faith combined, just to make a friendly leader who could sway both heart and mind. J. O. Markel keeps the minutes and to aid him, Charles A. Stack of the income and the outgo of the council's cash, keeps track. Joseph Maag acts as the warden, Fred Carrillo, chancellor and general Dr. Rossier is advocate; what's more, Knights Brock and Maag and Rudolph form a group of three trustees, who, like the other officers, use every power to please.

Farewell Surprise Honors Family Planning To Live Near Paso Robles

When Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rossier of 315 McClay street, returned to their home Saturday evening after a day's absence, they were slightly alarmed to see evidence of the house being occupied.

Opening the door quietly, they found that they were far more surprised than the intruders could possibly be, for the latter, if intruders they might be called, were delightful ones, numbering many of Mr. and Mrs. Rossier's close friends.

During their hosts' absence they had taken possession of the home with the result that a delicious supper was all in readiness for the return of the family.

The delightful affair was planned as a farewell party to Mr. and Mrs. Rossier who are leaving in the near future to make their home on a ranch near Paso Robles. As an added token of their friendly feeling, the guests presented their hosts with a gasoline lamp, since their ranch will not be equipped with gas or electric lights.

After the bounteous supper was served, the evening was devoted to playing "500" and the enjoyment of Victrola music.

Those present in addition to the honored hosts who were thus guests in their own home, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Mahan, Miss Dolores Mahan and Thomas Mahan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Henry, Miss R. Dysart, or Henry Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dysart, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boggs, Eugene Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Griffin, Miss Gwendolyn Griffin, Mrs. Elizabeth Page, Miss Ida Meldrum, Messrs. Harry Rossier of San Diego, Arthur E. Collins and Thomas Miller.

WHITEN ROUGH
CHAPPED HANDS

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerin and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, because it doesn't irritate. adv

Hard Time Whist Party Yields Merriment for Wednesday Card Club

An amazing number of questionable appearing characters seemed to take possession of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Farquhar on Bryan street, Tustin on Saturday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Farquhar invited the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Card Club and their husbands, to be their guests.

The fact that the affair took the form of a "hard-time party" was seized upon by the guests, to come in all manner of ridiculous costumes, and merriment ruled the evening.

Whist was played and prizes went to Mrs. Grant Holderman and Dudley Kiser, for their skill at the game.

After the games, a delicious three course supper was served at the card tables which were decked with band vases containing sprays of Chinese lilies.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Farquhar were Messrs. and Mesdames Grover Fultz, John Kiser, Dudley Kiser, Grant Holderman, F. Matthews, Arthur Trickey, Forrest Collar, William S. Leinberger, William Kelly and Clarence Tucker.

John Oliver, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

AUTO CRASHES ACROSS SIDEWALK INTO STORE

Pedestrians on Fourth street were startled at 11:30 a. m. today when a new touring car, owned and driven by Benjamin Freed, San Francisco, ran wild and crashed into the front of the Lion confectionery store, 211 West Fourth street.

In his report to the police Freed stated that he had lost control of the machine, which crossed the sidewalk. The bumper, which probably saved the car from extensive damage, struck the tile under the plate glass, smashing it to bits. The pane was undamaged.

Golden Wedding Anniversary Of Former Kentuckians Fittingly Celebrated

Celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Qualls, 109 Orange avenue, a number of relatives and close friends of the splendid couple, gathered at their home last night, and took them completely by surprise.

On January 30, 1872, in Hopkinsville, Kentucky, the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Qualls took place and in that little Kentucky city, they made their home until about eight years ago, when they came to Santa Ana where they have since resided, making a place for themselves in the community and in the hearts of their new friends.

The two children born to the union, Mrs. Frederick Eley and Charles R. Qualls with their families were present at the celebration, as well as Miss Elizabeth Overshiner, Charles D. Overshiner, and C. J. Overshiner of Orange, sister and two brothers of Mrs. Qualls. In addition were many close friends, while a pleasant feature was the number of cards and letters containing messages of loving greetings from the friends in the "Old Kentucky Home."

In 1912, Miss Bessie Qualls and Frederick Eley chose the anniversary of Miss Qualls' parents for their own wedding date, so that fact that the occasion celebrated their tenth anniversary, was also given prominence.

At a late hour in the evening, delicious refreshments, prepared by Mrs. Eley at her home, were served to the guests.

Friends Gather to Help Celebrate Birthday Of Host

Particularly enjoyable was the birthday anniversary of Mr. George E. Kilson on Saturday, January 28, when a little group of congenial friends responded to Mrs. Kilson's invitation to spend the evening at their hospitable home, 425 McFadden avenue.

The early part of the evening was spent playing "500" after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, followed by a series of clever guessing games and contests interspersed with social conversation and music.

Extending their congratulations and good wishes to Mr. Kilson, were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stevens, L. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randall, Dr. and Mrs. H. McVickar Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutherland, Miss Dorothy Smith, and Mr. J. Haas.

HAPPILY SURPRISED ON HER 18TH BIRTHDAY

GLORYETTA, Jan. 31—Miss Jennie Billa was the honor guest at a delightful surprise here recently, the occasion marking her eighteenth birthday anniversary. The party was arranged by her friends, the Misses Tommy Cruz and Mary Flores and was held at Richart hall, on South Main street, which was charmingly decorated for the occasion in an effective pink, green and blue color scheme.

The party assembled at the home of Mrs. Olds, aunt of Miss Billa, and at 8 o'clock to the strains of a piano selection by Mrs. Eva Miranda, proceeded to the hall adjoining. Dancing and games were enjoyed until a late hour. Music was furnished by the Ybarra orchestra.

After two hours of dancing, supper was served during an interval, covers being laid for twenty couples at tables artistically decorated in violets, while the pink, blue and green scheme was used effectively in the dining-room decorations. Mrs. Nieta was in charge of the dining-room activities.

At the conclusion of the supper, Mr. Billa, father of the honor guest made a delightful little speech in which he expressed his deep appreciation for the graceful compliment to his daughter on her eighteenth birthday. Altogether the happy affair was pronounced by all present to have been one of the most enjoyable ever held in Gloryetta.

Richard Dix, playing the leading man's part in "The Sin Flood," a big Goldwyn picture, which will soon be released, was a medical student, a bank teller and a lumberjack before he went on the stage. He had his first theater experience in amateur plays in St. Paul.

The toy industry in the United States requires the services of 300,000 skilled and unskilled workers. The St. Lawrence river discharges almost twice as much water into the ocean as does the Mississippi.

DEMPSEY MAY MEET BRENNAN IN MARCH

Promoters Trying to Get Big Heavyweights Into New York Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Another Dempsey-Brennan bout is on the fire. Leo P. Flynn, who handles the reins of Bill Brennan, admitted that he had signed Brennan for a bout with Champion Dempsey, but would not disclose the date and location of the battle.

However, the match is as good as on. Jack and Bill probably will go on at Madison Square Garden on March 17 for a fifteen-round trip. Dan McKelrick, one of the most prominent members of the Dempsey-Kearns board of strategy, admitted there had been negotiations for such a bout and stated the formal articles of agreement probably would be drawn up today.

Dempsey and Brennan have had it out twice. On the first occasion Dempsey stopped Bill in six rounds, although Brennan claimed at the time that he had broken his ankle and could not do himself justice. On the second time out Dempsey knocked out Brennan in twelve rounds in Madison Square Garden. Brennan still insists, notwithstanding those two beatings, that he would have a chance with Dempsey in another scrap.

Manganese In 1921

The domestic shipments of high-grade manganese ore—containing 25 per cent or more metallic manganese—amounted to about 13,000 gross tons in 1921, of which more than 10,000 tons was shipped from Montana, according to H. A. C. Jensen, of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. The shipments of ore containing 10 to 35 per cent of manganese amounted to about 72,000 tons, most of which was shipped from Minnesota. The shipments of manganese ore and ferruginous manganese ore amounted to about 14,000 tons.

The net imports for the first eleven months of the year amounted to 286,405 tons of high-grade ore and oxide, valued at $3,285,595. Of this Brazil contributed 247,568 tons, valued at $7.58 per ton, and India 113,730 tons, valued at $6.46 per ton.

BIG TRADE INCREASE
VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 31.—The year's returns show a remarkable increase in trade through the port of Vancouver. The customs and the inland revenue figures show an increase of over a million dollars over 1920. The total sum collected during the fiscal year ended December 31, 1921, was $12,137,032, compared with $11,081,432 for the corresponding period in 1920.

The suspension bridge at Niagara Falls, completed in 1855, was the first wire structure to carry railroad traffic.

WRESTLERS ON EDGE FOR CHAMPION BOUT

Prehn Arrives from East for Match with L. A. A. C. Instructor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Paul Prehn, challenger for the middleweight mat title, arrived here yesterday. He was belated by heavy snowstorms which held up trains east of Ogden. As a wrestler he looks good. He is sure to give Champion Walter Miller a hard run at the Los Angeles Athletic club Thursday night.

The University of Illinois instructor, who has kept in trim by wrestling on the way at several points, is in fine condition but a few pounds over weight, and is working like a Trojan in the L.A.A.C. gym, where he will be seen in action daily at noon with the best training partners he can find. He will easily make 158. Miller may be a little, if anything, under, so neither will have the advantage in this respect. Walter is busy at the Athletic club, too, and there's a lot of stir at Seventh and Olive.

REPORT FRIGID TIME AT BEAR LAKE CAMP

Coach H. M. Morrison, Osborne Garber, and Vice-principal W. M. Clayton of the high school were within the confines of that building again today following their trip to Camp Little Pines at Big Bear Lake. Leaving Santa Ana last Friday at 9:30 p. m., the men reached camp at 8 a. m. Saturday. Reports of minus eight temperature greeted them, but Saturday noon it was slightly warmer. The men had scarcely reached camp when flurries of snow, ever increasing, began. It was not long before vision was obscured. Not desiring to become snowbound the men started homeward. At Victorville it was found that not an automobile had passed through Cajon pass in thirty hours, so the return trip to Fullerton was made by rail road.

It was 3:30 yesterday afternoon when they alighted from the stage here. The men declared that ice skating is in vogue at Big Bear Lake, which is frozen from shore to shore. One speed maniac had built an ice boat which he was navigating there.

POLY VS. WHITTIER IN PRACTICE GAME

A practice game with Whittier to be played Thursday evening in the Whittier gymnasium is the only activity arranged for the Poly five this week, according to Coach Morrison. Light work will be the rule this week, and it is not expected that the players will have to break the rule in contesting with Whittier. That school stands at the bottom of the league, having fallen before every Orange county team which it has encountered, while Poly's per cent is 1,000.

The local lads have no game to play in the Orange county league this week. The seconds will battle with Garden Grove.

POLY TENNIS STARS DEFEAT FULLERTON

With the cancellation of the third round of a three-round tennis tournament between Fullerton and Santa Ana high schools, the local racquet artists are claiming supremacy over their rivals.

Last October a three-round tennis tournament was arranged between the freshman classes of the Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools. The first round was played at Fullerton, November 9, Santa Ana winning easily.

The second round was played here January 26 and 27. The round was arranged so that it covered two afternoons, this being necessary on account of the number of sets to be played. On Thursday Santa Ana took both the boys' singles and one of the girls' singles, the remaining girls' singles going to Fullerton.

Three sets were played Friday afternoon. Santa Ana winning the boys' doubles and the mixed doubles. Fullerton won the girls' doubles. The third round was cancelled, as Santa Ana won two of the three scheduled games, thus taking the tournament.

The Santa Ana players were: Merle Armstrong, Keith Beisel, Veda Freiburg, Thelma Patton, Charles Gray, Burt Wardrop, Alice Forgy, Helen Metz, Thebe Addison and Gordon Harding.

Fullerton: Douglas Davis, Marvin Fritz, Jean McGill, Velma Vaughan, Hanlie Carter, Billy Swain, Alice Corcoran, Corinne McAllister, Katherine Gurley and Charles Tetty.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a cross, feverish, bilious, or constipated child loves the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A taste of this never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions printed on bottle.

Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

DOG AND MONKEY CIRCUS DELIGHTS THE KIDDIES

Monkeys cutting up monkey shines and little dogs doing stunts
—one of them balancing on his front paws on an iron bar—created much amusement for the kiddies and other children of all ages who attended the Meiklejohn and Dunn vaudeville road show at the Yost last night.

Other acts on the bill include Balmus, a man, who does a balancing and posing feature which includes also three minutes of motion pictures showing him balancing on the ledge of a cliff many hundred feet high and doing other hazardous feats that demonstrate his marvelous control over his nerves and muscles.

Milt Dill and his sister appear in a roping act, typical of similar acts and Goodrum, a magician and monologist, provides entertainment with his legerdemain and running fire of chatter, not to mention the hilarity caused by his picking half dollars from the ears, nose and clothing of a small boy from the audience.

Shirley Mason in the film feature is happily placed as "Queenie." She wins the heart of a crabbed old miser so what chance have the rest of us against her charms? There was abundant evidence that the audience was pleased with her and her play. "Queenie" is discovered in a young ladies' seminary doing odd jobs as the patch-and-mend girl. Incidents thrilling and incidents amusing unfold with the film's progress and the climax is altogether delicious. The entire performance is to be repeated tonight.

"AFTER THE SHOW" AND CONCERT DUE TOMORROW

"After the Show," a film production featuring Jack Holt, Charles Ogle and Lila Lee is scheduled for the Yost tomorrow for a three days' run. It is a picture that has attracted favorable comment wherever shown.

Tomorrow is to mark, also,
the beginning of the Yost orchestra mid-week concerts, under the direction of F. I. Doyle, pianist.

MUSKETEERS MADE ON WORLD'S BIGGEST STAGE.

The first shots for "The Three Musketeers," now at the Temple, were taken of the queen's boudoir, the set for which was erected on stage No. 6, at the Brunson (now the United) studios in Hollywood.
This is the largest motion picture stage ever built in the world.

All of the feminine players, gorgeously costumed, appeared in these first scenes. They include Mary MacLaren in the part of Queen Anne of Austria; Marguerite De La Motte, as Constance; Barbara La Marr, characterizing Milady, and all of the ladies in waiting.

The queen's room is as near the exact reproduction of the famed boudoir as it was humanly possible to make it. Every proportion and detail is historically correct even to the paneling of the walls which was all hand-painted with exactly the same pictures that ancient book-cuts indicate graced the walls of this noted chamber.

For action, "The Three Musketeers" excels anything Fairbanks has ever done. There are sixteen duels fought, in one of which Fairbanks as D'Artagnan and the three musketeers engage eight rivals. This feature will be at the Temple all this

HARRY CAREY AT THE PRINCESS TONIGHT.

Harry Carey is due at the Princess tonight in "The Fox." The Mojave desert, the most desolate stretch of land in the country and the most awe-inspiring, forms the scenic background for the feature, which was written by Carey, himself.

Little Breery Eason, who was run over and killed by an automobile in Los Angeles recently, has a role in support of Carey that gives an additional heart-punch to the attraction.
The little fellow, so beloved of all film fans, plays a difficult part with the appealing naturalness that endured to all.

"DESERT BLOSSOMS" ENDS RUN TONIGHT.

"Desert Blossoms," the William Fox photoplay starring William Russell, will end its run at the West End theater tonight. Its desert scenes showing construction of a big government irrigation enterprise, as well as the entertaining love and adventure themes, have made a strong appeal here.

Dustin Farnum, again a Fox star, will come to the West End theater
next Thursday in "The Primal Law," by E. Lloyd Sheldon. He plays the part of a dashing and daring Western hero, a type in which he has won many of his hosts of friends.

NORTH OF OLIVE FLOOD BARRIER IS PROPOSED

At a mass meeting held last night at the Richfield school steps were taken to arrange for flood protection along the Santa Ana river, from the bluff above Yorba Linda to the Olive bridge of the Santa Fe railroad, to which point the Anaheim flood breakwater would be connected. The distance between these two points is approximately five miles. A. A. Mills of Anaheim presided at last night's meeting.

On motion of J. A. Spurling, seconded by E. A. Rodieck, it was agreed that a committee of five should be appointed to obtain information as to the cost of the proposed protection measures, outline the river territory to be taken in by the improvement, and determine a definite policy to be followed by the sponsors of the movement.

This committee, composed of Maxson Smith, C. R. Vesper, S. C. Hartman, Carl Walter and E. A. Rodieck, will make its preliminary report at another mass meeting scheduled to be held in Richfield February 8. William Greeley was chosen secretary.

The committee plans to interview prominent engineers, including those employed by the Santa Fe railroad, and will proceed at once to obtain all necessary data. It was proposed that the protection measures be financed by voluntary subscriptions of $5 an acre by landowners in the territory affected. The cost was estimated at $38,000 and approximately 7000 acres would be protected.

WALTZES TO FEATURE WEDNESDAY'S DANCES

Waltzes are to predominate in the first of the Wednesday evening dances to be given at the American Legion hall on Birch street tomorrow evening.

"These Wednesday evening dances," said Maurice Enderle, commander of Santa Ana post, "are to be for couples above high school age, principally for married folk. We will continue our Friday evening dances just as hitherto. The Wednesday evening dances will feature whatever dances those who attend wish. There are many persons who do not care a great deal for the newer dances, but who are very fond of the waltz. That is the reason why it has been decided to have the waltz predominate tomorrow evening."

The charge is to be $1 a couple. The dances are to be conducted as revenue-producers for the American Legion post.

JAPS, CHINA SETTLE SHANTUNG PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—The Washington arms conference today marked up two more great issues to its record as it neared the end of its work.

The two latest successes of the conference are:
1—Completion of the five power treaty for reduction and limitation of the great navies of the world by an agreement providing for non-fortification of the Pacific islands of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

2—Settlement in direct negotiations between Japan and China of the Shantung question, one of the most serious issues of the Far East for more than two years.

The naval limitation treaty will be announced at a plenary session of the conference tomorrow.

The terms of the Shantung agreement are that China buys the Tsing Tao Tsinanfu railroad by deferred payments with Chinese treasury notes over a period of fifteen years with a five year option to buy the road outright and that there be a Japanese traffic manager of the railroad subject, however, to the authority of a Chinese managing director with also a Japanese and Chinese accountant, each with equal powers.

Hope rose today that since the naval treaty and Shantung have been settled the conference may wind up its work by the end of next week.

NEWSPAPERS IN BIG ADVERTISING MERGER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 31—Seventeen of the largest newspapers in the country, having a circulation in excess of four million, announced today formation of the National Newspapers, incorporated, for the sale and distribution of national advertising.

Colonel B. C. Blethen, of the Seattle Times, is president of the organization.

A. E. Braun, of the Pittsburgh Post, H. S. Scott of the Detroit News, Henry Varian of the New York World and S. E. Thomson of the Chicago Tribune are executive members and empowered to incorporate and select the other officers.

"The plan is purely along co-operation lines," Col. Blethen told the United Press today. "It opens up an advertising field in a way never accomplished before. No group of magazines or collection of periodicals can offer such a circulation as will be offered by this group of newspapers."

"It gives the national advertiser a wonderful opportunity. The organization will open its main office in New York and will have other offices in Chicago and probably San Francisco."

"Tonight and Wednesday fair; light to heavy frost in exposed places in interior."

This forecast, holding out hope to the farmers that there would be a cessation of the rainstorm and at the same time warning them to be prepared for a nipping frost, was issued by the weather bureau in Los Angeles today.

The rain ceased here at 7 a. m. today and the skies began to clear, following a night of hard showers.

The precipitation here for the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. was .83 of an inch, making a storm total of 2.23 and a season total of 12.17, or .01 of an inch less than the total last season.

Riverside and San Bernardino today reported clearing weather. The precipitation there yesterday and last night was light. The Santa Ana river was not running high. Warm weather during the next few days would melt the snow in the mountains and a heavy volume of water would come down the river, it is predicted.

Anaheim was threatened with overflow from the river yesterday, when several temporary embankment repairs were eaten by the current. At one time the water was within a few inches of the top of the levee. A. A. Bayless, of the Santa Fe, who directed the temporary repairs, was at the river today making observations.

It is believed that should a big volume of water run down the river, Anaheim will again be flooded, unless the levee is strengthened.

No damage of consequence was reported anywhere in the county. Telephone and electric services have not been interrupted seriously. The United States Long distance wire to Huntington Beach was out of commission today.

FOUR CHILDREN WILL GET $77,500 ESTATE

An estate of $77,500, left by William Wilson, who died January 21, will be shared by his four children, according to a petition filed in the superior court by W. E. Williams, asking letters of administration.

Three of the heirs L. B. Wilson, Oscar Wilson and Mrs. Maude Lentz, reside in or near Santa Ana. The fourth, Beryl Wilson, resides at Zelzah.

Eighty acres of beet land situated adjacent to Wintersburg and Smeltzer, and valued at $50,000, constitutes the real property included in the estate. Bonds, notes and cash total $20,936. The remainder of the estate is represented in livestock, farm implements and stored produce.

DEFENDANTS CONTENT PROPERTY TRANSFERS PLANNED TO DEFRAUD

Alleging that the transfer of property by S. C. Ames to the Stanton Improvement company was done with the intent to defraud and defeat an attempt at attachment, Mrs. Maude Parker and Sheriff C. E. Jackson, defendants in a suit to quiet title in the property, filed their answer and cross complaint today in the superior court.

The Stanton City Improvement company had filed the suit after the property had been attached by the sheriff in connection with another suit, in which Mrs. Parker is suing Ames for an accounting of affairs on the Parker ranch while it was under his management a few years ago.

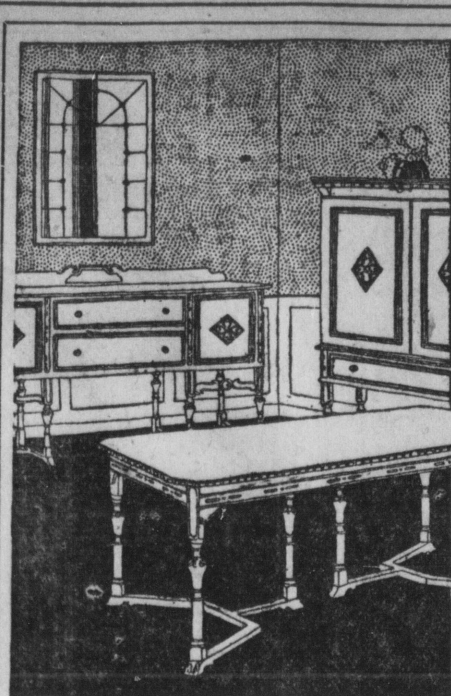

The Stanton concern objected to the attachment, making claim of ownership to the property and asking that title be quieted.

"How Much Do You Know?"

How much do you really know about the furniture in your home?

Possibly you have read a lot about different kinds and qualities of furniture, of different makes—but really, how much do you actually know about it?

There is much furniture that looks like walnut or mahogany but never has any touch of either. You are entirely dependent upon either your own knowledge or the honesty of the store with whom you deal when you purchase furniture.

We feel that we could never let any customer purchase a piece that looks like rich mahogany in both color and grain when we would know it to be only birch or gumwood cleverly finished.

That's why we have built up a long standing reputation for quality, merchandise of character. The name Spurgeon stands for an unqualified guarantee on every piece of furniture that leaves our store.

And just as an example let us call your attention to the beautifully finished Dining Room Suite now on exhibition in our east window.

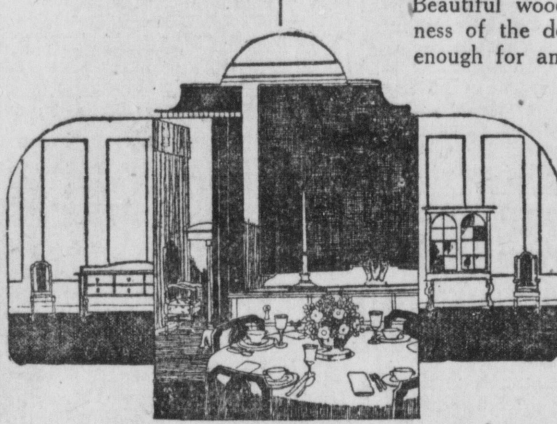

It is a beautiful reproduction of the Italian Renaissance Period in an American Walnut, with Polychrome finish. Ten pieces complete the suite, but these may be had separately if desired.

Beautiful wood and finish, together with the attractiveness of the design, add in making this a suite attractive enough for any home.

poned until sometime later in the season, it was decided at a meeting of the executive congress here last night.The members of the congress will be urged to attend a meeting of the American Berkshire congress to be held at Riverside, February 27 to March 2. The meeting of the executive committee was called by Chairman W. M. Carruthers of Live Oak.
James Mills, president of the Western Berkshire congress, and J. Francis O'Connor, secretary, were among those present at the meeting.U. C.'S "BIGSERKIS" FORBIDDEN BY PREXBERKELEY, Jan. 31.—The "Big O Sirkus" at the University of California will not be held this year.
This became known here when Assistant Graduate Manager Raymond Cortelyou said President David P. Barrows had made it known to the Big C society that he did not favor the holding of the carnival.
His objections were made "in the interest of prohibition and better scholarship standing." Two years ago when the last "Sirkus" was held, three students nearly lost their lives from drinking a prohibition concoction.

Man Who Gave Himself
Up In Neglect Case
Will Face Hearing HereEdgar E. Fletcher, charged with failure to provide for a minor child, was scheduled to appear at 2 p. m. today before Justice J. B. Cox for preliminary examination.Fletcher was released on his own recognizance at his arraignment, after having come voluntarily from Los Angeles when he learned that a warrant had been issued here for his arrest.The charge against Fletcher was preferred by his wife, from whom he is separated. He alleges in defense, it is understood, that she left him, taking their child with her, without letting him know her destination or later whereabouts.MAN ON GIRL CHARGE WILL BE TRIED HERE
IF VENTURA WILLINGPending receipt of word from Ventura county authorities that they have accepted Orange county's proposal to turn over Primo Solario, of El Modena, for prosecution in Ventura on a statutory charge, District Attorney A. P. Nelson has prepared an information to be filed in this county, charging Solario with a similar offense.Thus it will be possible to hold Solario in custody here until Ventura county's decision in the matter has been learned. If Ventura county decides to waive prosecution of Solario, Nelson will proceed with the case here and seek punishment of the man who is charged with having abandoned his wife and family in El Modena to elope with his 16-year-old cousin, Esperanza Luna.Nelson's proposal to Ventura county was influenced by the prospect of better success in pressing charges against Solario there, where most of the elopement period was passed and where Orange county lacks jurisdiction. Solario and the girl were arrested at Santa Paula, Ventura county, about a month after they disappeared from El Modena.The information prepared for filing here charges Solario with seduction under promise of marriage. It was presumably well known, however, to the girl that Solario already had a wife.GOODCELL CONFIDENT OF U. S. APPOINTMENTSuperior Judge Rex Goodcell of San Bernardino, who is sitting in the trial of a case in the superior court here today, is expecting appointment as collector of internal revenue for the Southern California district."I am confident that the appointment will be made within the next two or three days," said Judge Good-cell."Word that I have received from Washington assures me that I am to be appointed at once."Judge Goodcell will carry to the office a vigorous and energetic mentality and a thoroughly trained legal mind.A Washington dispatch states that United States Senators Johnson and Shortridge have agreed upon the recommendation of Goodcell, and that President Harding will send the nomination to the senate for confirmation. It is proposed to make the change as quickly as possible so that the new collector will get into the swing of this year's collections.The dispatch states that appointments of a number of other federal offices in Los Angeles will be made soon. It appears that Louis Schwabe of Los Angeles is to be collector of customs, and V. Brainerd Smith of Pasadena is to get a land office place.United States District Attorney J. C.
Burke of Santa Ana has been in office since the first week in December, and, according to all reports from Los Angeles federal departments, is making good in the job.
Burke was the first of the aspirants for federal recognition in Southern California to land his appointment.DECISION FAILS
AT TUSTIN IN SITE CLASHAgreement Lacking Though 4 Ballots Cast; Trustees to Meet AgainAlthough four ballots were cast by the Tustin high school trustees last night in connection with the selection of a site for the proposed $250, 000 high school building, unanimous agreement was found impossible, according to Mrs. Florence Stanley, a member of the board, and the meeting was adjourned until tonight. The board is scheduled to meet at 7 p. m., in a final effort to decide upon a suitable location for the school.Mrs. Stanley said that although every effort was made to reach a satisfactory agreement, one member of the board remained steadfast in his determination to favor the Irvine site. Members of the board who had heretofore favored selection of the Sam Tustin property agreed to a compromise when it was proposed to substitute the Bowman tract for the Tustin site.The Bowman compromise was not satisfactory to A. L. Trickey, however, board members declared, and the meeting resulted in a deadlock.
The first ballot showed that two members voted for the Tustin site, two for the Irvine site and one for the Bowman tract. Voting fluctuated on the next two ballots, various sites being favored, but the fourth ballot resulted in a vote of four to one in favor of the Bowman property. One member voting blank, the meeting was ordered adjourned until tonight.While the board members were reluctant to submit the question to the voters of the district, Mrs. Stanley said tonight's meeting will be final so far as she has been able to learn. The law requires that the people shall decide the issue in the event the trustees are unable to reach an agreement. R. P. Mitchell,

IN U. S. MARINE CORPSSAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Fifty-eight qualified musicians are needed to satisfy the craving for music of members of the United States marine corps on the Pacific coast, it was announced at local marine recruiting headquarters at 660 Market street.
Heretofore musicians enlisted in the marines have been compelled to perform other duties besides playing in the bands, but the popularity of music among the marines and the scarcity of qualified musicians have resulted in the official sanctioning of enlistments for band duty only.CUBANS OFFER U. S.
SUGAR MEN BONUSWASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Growers of beet and cane sugar in the United States have been offered a cash allotment equal to four tenths of a cent per pound on their total 1921 sales.
It is proposed to make the offer by Cuban cane sugar growers in return for support in the fight of the Cuban sugar interests against imports, according to Alfred Glover, who said today he was authorized to act for the Cuban producers. If the proposal is accepted, he said, certificate checks would be sent American growers for their "share" on receipt here of affidavits as to the amount of last year's sales."The total amount received by American beet and cane growers last year," he said, "was $57,557,579.

can growers $14,330,394, which is

REFLECT VIEWS OF LONDONERSSaturday, February 26, 1859, is the date of a copy of the Illustrated London News, in possession of Mr.
and Mrs. Alfred Emmerson, 836 North Birch street. They also have copies of other issues of the same publication printed in the years of 1863, 1868 and later dates. "It was brought to this country by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Emmerson, parents of Alfred Emmerson, when they came to this country in 1870, and were given to the latter at Clay Center, Kansas, thirty-five years ago."A comparison of the news gathering facilities of today with those of the publication in 1859, shows that some rapid strides have been made in the sixty-three years. The paper was dependent on mail from slow-going ships for information from America. It is noted in brief paragraphs devoted to news from America that "agitation about Cuba continued in congress and adverse documents have been prepared with great industry respecting the policy and value of acquisition. The advocates for purchasing the island gain every day."Correspondence from Washington, under date of February 7, 1859, predicts that congress will break up in a row "in consequence of the report of the Sherman committee." Startling developments were anticipated from an investigation of the printing office, with the White House closely involved.On the issue of March 21, 1863, club Red Cross work room in East Forty-fourth street, New York city,

the most famous of all the work rooms in the metropolitan district, has just been closed after four years and seven months of great activity.Early in 1917 the club set aside the space under its glass-enclosed roof for Red Cross production and here the women toiled during the active days of the war and on a lesser scale since the Armistice.
Hundreds of thousands of articles, ranging from hospital supplies to refugee garments were produced there, the average monthly output during the last twenty-three months being 8,296. In addition to providing the work room the Yale club furnished free eat, heat, light and telephone service. On learning that the club needed the space the Red

NEW HISTORY OF CALIFORNIA AT LIBRARY

A new history of California, written by C. E. Chapman of the University of California, is one of twenty-nine new books on historical and other non-fiction subjects just added to the Santa Ana library.

Among the books, too, is Al Jennings' book, "Through the Shadows" of O. Henry, which is the book written by Jennings concerning his experiences in a federal penitentiary in Ohio, in which Jennings was serving a sentence at the time O. Henry, the author, was also there. The titles of the new books and their authors, together with statements by publishers, follow:

Anderson, Sherwood, "Triumph of the Egg." We recommend this volume to every disappointed reader of current fiction.

Ayscough, Florence, "Pir-flower Tablets." "Pir-flower tablets" is a collection of translations from Chinese poets, mostly of the Tang period. Not only is the flavor of the originals preserved, the very words and phrases are reproduced.

Athearn, W. S., "A National System of Education." "With that keenness and originality for which he is noted Professor Athearn sets forth in this highly suggestive volume a thoroughly developed and practical solution of many of the great problems of American education."

Bailey, L. H., "Principles of Vegetable Gardening." "The eighteenth edition thoroughly revised and remade, gives not only the cultivation of the leading vegetables but also condensed description and advice, by experts, of the diseases and insects."

Benson, E. F., "Our Family Affairs." "E. L. Benson, son of Queen Victoria's favorite Archbishop, member of a brilliant family group, knowing intimately many of the men and women who have made English history in the past decades."

Brett-Smith, H. F. B., "Peacock's Four Ages of Poetry." Broun, Heywood, "Seeing Things at Night." "Reflections on anything and everything by the literary and dramatic critic of the New York Tribune."

Chapman, C. E., "History of California." "An authoritative popular history, the product of thirteen years' investigation of Spanish California. Manuscripts hitherto unknown have been consulted, and material never before used."

Clark, B. H., "Representative One-Act Plays." "Twenty one-act plays which represent the work of the leading British and Irish dramatists of recent years. Clark has included biographical data and bibliography of one-act plays."

Cope, H. F., "The Week-Day Church School." "What has been, is being done and can be done to extend religious education into all the days of the week."

Drinkwater, John, "Oliver Cromwell."

Gamble, S. D., "Peking." "This book describes life in the capital of China in all the intricacy of an old and established routine of custom and habit not ordinarily touched by writers on the Orient."

Garland, Hamlin, "Daughter of the Middle Border." "Hamlin Garland has taken up and carried forth the history of Isabel McClintock and Richard Garland."

Guilford, E. L., "Story of English Towns." Nottingham.

Higginson, T. W., "Letters and Journals of Thomas Wentworth." Higginson.

Jennings, Al, "Through the Shadows with O. Henry."

Jordan, W. G., "Trusteeship of Life." "Jordan's philosophy of conduct is a good one—a working hypothesis in harmony with the Christian faith."

Keller, Frances, "Immigration and the Future." "A frank analysis of America's greatest national problem."

Markham, V. R., "Watching on the Rhine." "This book based on close observation of the daily life and psychology of the German people, has a permanent value for the light it sheds on the after-effects of the war and the results which it has bred in the Germany of today."

Maugham, W. S., "The Circle." "The circle stands as proof that the man who wrote 'The Moon and Sixpence,' is as great and sensational a playwright as he is a novelist."

Morley, Christopher, "Plum Pudding." "Of diverse ingredients, discreetly blended and seasoned, and merrily embellished."

Murdoch, C. A., "Horatio Stebbins." "His military and personality."

Payot, Jules, "Will-power and Work." "As the title implies, this book deals particularly with the development of that practical energy which makes for real success in life."

Peabody, F. G., "Sundays in the College Chapels." "An interpretation for young men and women of the motives and aims of the spiritual life in the light of present-day conditions, written with all the directness, sincerity, and understanding that have made Professor Peabody's previous volumes an inspiration to so many readers."

Roe, A. S., "Chance and Change in China." "We find here old customs into which a faint change has crept, old ideas, especially concerning women, which are being modified, old, secret and sacred things which are being bared to the light of the public gaze and discarded."

Sedgwick, H. D., "Life of Marcus Aurelius." "A completely satisfactory reference work on the great Roman, his days and his writings."

Sidebotham, Herbert, "Political Profiles."

Trine, R. W., "My Philosophy and My Religion." "A philosophy and a religion of use, and therefore of power."

Walker, Stuart, "Portmanteau Adaptations."

HAS RAISED A NEW STANDARD FOR BAKING POWDER

Because it's made in the most careful and scientific manner from absolutely pure materials that remain pure in the baking and insure wholesome, healthful food.

Because it possesses the greatest leavening power.

Because it is not affected by time or weather—it never loses its strength and never fails.

Because it is more economical—you save when you buy it and you save when you use it.

These are a few of the reasons why Calumet is the standard baking powder—the choice of millions—more being sold than of any other brand.

Try it—always buy it. Your grocer can supply you.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

SEEK U. S. AID FOR LASSEN PARK ROADS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—Indorsement of the development of the Lassen Volcanic National park as a scenic wonderland, by construction of highways into and through the park, was given today at a meeting here of representatives of all sections of northern California.

A movement is on foot to secure aid from the federal government in constructing adequate highways under the provisions of the federal aid road bill, recently enacted by congress, and which makes available $75,000,000 for road development, a large proportion of which will be devoted to building roads in national forests and parks throughout the nation.

METHODISTS TO COMPLETE BIG DRIVE FUND

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 31.—If Southern Methodists are going to subscribe in full the amount asked for in the late drive for Christian education, whereby $33,000,000 was asked for the support and enlargement of the 91 schools and colleges maintained by the Methodist Episcopal church, South, the amount which the fund lacks of completion must be pledged before May 1922, according to Methodist leaders here.

Dr. Stonewall Anderson, secretary of the board of education, which fostered the intensive campaign, is of the opinion that Southern Methodists will complete the great task and that when general conference, the supreme authority of the church, convenes in May for its quadrennial meeting, the financial objective of the Christian education movement will be in sight.

Lacks $12,000,000.

Although the $33,000,000 fund lacks $12,000,000 of attainment, it is said that Southern Methodists are greatly gratified at the result of the Christian education movement. Other objectives included in the movement were more than realized, notable among these being the enlistment of 5,000 young people for various types of Christian service within the jurisdiction of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

Dr. R. H. Bennett, secretary for this phase of the movement, in a recent report states that the 5,000 goal has long since been passed and the number of enrollments is approaching the 6,000 mark. It is claimed that this breaks all previous records of any denomination for volunteers for Christian service.

Another pleasing result of the movement is the new spirit and attitude of the church toward Christian education, it is said. College presidents report their institutions crowded to capacity and hundreds being turned away for lack of accommodations.

Regarding the financial status of the movement, leaders claim that the pledging of more than $20,000,000 for Christian education in the face of demoralized business conditions throughout the territory of the church was a truly remarkable achievement, and they are confident that the whole amount asked for will yet be raised. Owing to the economic stress at the time the financial drive was launched, many churches have not yet made the every-member canvass for pledges.

"With a mind to work, coupled with faith and hope and courage, we shall yet do this thing," said Dr. Anderson.

REPORTS 'FLU' IN N. Y. ON DECREASE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner, reported a sharp decrease in influenza and pneumonia cases here today. According to his statement there were only 332 influenza cases reported yesterday, as compared with 475 for the previous day.

Ninety-six cases of pneumonia were reported yesterday as against 103 for Sunday.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."

Mrs. WM. JUNKER, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with back ache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

LEADS IN POULTRY

REGINA, Saskatchewan, Jan. 31.—Saskatchewan, in proportion to population, ranks first in poultry production among the provinces of Canada. According to federal statistics, Saskatchewan had 9,000,000 hens in 1921 or only about 1,000,000 less than Ontario, Alberta ranked third with 4,534,000. Manitoba and Quebec are about equal with 3,500,000 each. British Columbia made a fairly good showing, population considered, with nearly 1,500,000 hens.

FISH ARE PLENTIFUL

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31.—Fishing in Lake Winnipeg is exceptionally good this year, according to G. S. Davidson, chief fisheries' inspector. From that lake alone 1,500,000 pounds of whitefish will be taken this season, as well as a large number of pickerel, jackfish, and tullibie. The coarse fish are more plentiful this season than for several years previously, Mr. Davidson stated.

NEED OF MONEY CAUSES WOMAN SPY'S ARREST

NOTE: Following is the second chapter of the story regarding Maria Hari, the famous woman spy, who was executed by the French during the World War. Today's story deals with the arrest of "The Red Dancer" and tells of the trap the French set for her to bring an end to her career.

By JOHN O'BRIEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chapter II

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Maria Hari glided in declaring herself a modern messianic. She told the court-martial, which was to send her to an ignominious death of her countless love affairs, that she was a courtesan but not a spy. Tall, well formed, with fine dark eyes and regular features, this strange woman boasted that every officer she encountered during the war loved her.

"For me," she said, "nothing interested me but officers. They were a race apart. I have had many, many lovers, but they were all brave soldiers, always ready to fight, but while waiting for the battle, always gallant and amiable. I didn't care whether they were French, Russian, German or Austrian."

To Serve France

The president of the court-martial recalled to Mat. Hari that once in Paris when she thought herself suspected by the French she offered her services to the French counter-espionage.

"I had good sources of information, the dancer replied, "and I wanted to be useful to France."

Because the Germans were not able to send you any more money, we having discovered their method," retorted the president dryly.

Maria Hari said she offered to give the French information about the German submarine bases on the North African coast.

Where did you get the information," asked the court, "if it were true it showed you were in the pay of the Germans and if it were false, it showed you were trying to trick us."

Betraying Both Sides

The dancer's face showed that the blow had gone home. The president of the court then brought out that she had offered to proceed to Belgium and work against the Germans. The head of the French counter-espionage, who was well aware of her history, acquiesced. She asked him for the names and addresses of the leading French agents in Belgium. She was supplied with a list. All the names were false—except one, that of a notorious double spy who was betraying both sides. Maria Hari went to Brussels. Four days later the double spy was executed by the Germans.

For some unexplained reason, possibly because of her powerful friends, the French authorities did not even then take action against the woman. She asked to be sent to England and her request was acceded to. There she tried to take a boat for Holland, but the British secret service arranged things so that when Maria Hari landed from that boat it was at Bilbao, Spain.

In Need of Funds

That trip was her undoing. She was practically penniless, but managed to get to Madrid and put up at the Grand hotel. There she met the German military attaché and tried to make the acquaintance of the French attaché. The French attaché, who was on his guard from Paris, was warned from the Frenchman, the dancer turned to the German. Van Kroon, the German attaché, was smitten by her charms and made her presents of valuable gems. But Maria Hari didn't want jewelry. She wanted cash. Van Kroon didn't see why he should pay the woman out of his own funds, but he got in touch with the spy service that the dancer-spy would go back to Paris, where she would receive thirty thousand francs through a neutral legation.

Nabbed By Police

The French secret service learned that an order for the payment of such an amount to C. A. 42 had been transmitted from Amsterdam. They were on the watch for Maria Hari. She was trailed from the moment she crossed the Spanish frontier. She went to the neutral legation, received the money and, as she stepped into the street, was arrested. Her career was ended.

When the fact of that fatal telegram was flung at Maria Hari at her trial she collapsed. She felt herself doomed. Still she tried to deny, to explain.

"I—I tell you—I tell you—it was not for spying. Von Kroon couldn't pay me—himself—so he thought best to have his government pay for his pleasures."

"As we listened to that last despairing cry," said Major Massard in telling the story of the court martial, "we thought of the poor devils of polius out in the mud of the trenches, battling against the invader, while that miserable, powdered, painted, bedowered and gaily bedecked woman was stabbing them in the back."

3,326,806 SACKS FLOUR ARE SHIPPED

MONTREAL, Quebec, Jan. 31.—According to an official statement the total exports of flour from the port of Montreal during the past navigation season were 3,326,806 sacks, of which 2,887,720 sacks were shipped to British and continental markets; 313,006 to Newfoundland and 126,080 sacks to the British West Indies.

The shipments to the United Kingdom and continent show an increase of 558,836 sacks, as compared with the season of 1920, while shipments to St. Johns, Newfoundland, were 202,334 sacks in excess of the previous season.

The export trade in oatmeal was more active during the season 1921, the total shipments to the United Kingdom and continent showing an increase of 335,698 sacks.

BROADWAY IS MARK FOR YE OLDEN TRICKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Broadway has recently become the Rialto of the world for the sale of water pistols, exploding cigars, wailing instruments which imitate dying pigs, magic mirrors, invisible inks, trick cards, sneezing powders and other mechanical forms of wit and humor which used to be sold chiefly to the inhabitants of isolated farms and of lonesome communities in the mountainous districts.

In the last few days patrolmen along Broadway and even traffic policemen have repeatedly complained to desk lieutenants that their time is consumed in rushing up to large and excited crowds apparently collected at the scene of an accident or crime. Here they find a lad selling practical jokes in the form of matches that won't light, cigarettes impregnated with sulphur, copper twenty-dollar gold pieces that shoot up the sleeve, rubber dogs that go "woof-woof," fighting cocks on invisible strings, cats that run in circles shooting sparks out of their eyes, puppies that, impelled by unknown forces, turn back somersaults, roosters that crow in several distinct notes, the great Hindu flower spot trick, imitation gold teeth and miraculous invisible flutes.

Mobs have been called together by these marvels in greater numbers since Christmas than before Christmas. A large proportion of the city's unemployed has apparently been absorbed into the barking industry. Peddlers of smuggled fur neck pieces have been ruined by the competition. Sellers of receipts for making gins, and brandies on the radiator have been driven from the pavements.

COLUMBIA (Mo.), Jan. 31.—The National Baptist conference unanimously adopted a resolution recommending that the northern and southern conventions appoint or elect nine representatives of their respective bodies to constitute the "conference committee" of the church.

This is the first action ever taken by the two conventions looking forward to a permanent deliberative body of the two divisions, members said.

PALESTINE IS TO CULTURE RULES

PALESTINE IS TO CULTURE RULES

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—It's great progress, says the engineer; materialism run wild, says the poet; sacrifice, says the minister—all because the River Jordan, the subject of centuries of song and story, is to be harnessed and made to produce light and power for all Palestine.

It means great wealth, great comfort for the masses of the people and a forward step in the world's progress, the engineers declare, and as such it should be hailed as something more to the world than all the legends, all the songs ever written about it; but the poet and the preacher refuse to be comforted.

Contracts have been awarded and work has begun on the project of putting the Jordan to work. One of the great hydroelectric plants of the world is to be located on the banks of the famous river and it will provide power to run electric trains for many miles around. Jerusalem is to be lighted from the plant, so is Bethlehem and perhaps also Nazareth is to get a part of the benefit.

Electric Lines
At least, the plans call for a network of electric railroads all through Palestine, and with the rest of the world has considered an ancient country that has existed largely in the stories of the past, the subject of Bible study, will become one of the most modern.

One of the drawbacks of the little country has been its want of proper transportation facilities. There are railroads, of course, but not enough to go around, and many places that have never been reached by train. The new project is to change all this and the glories of the past will be retained only in the stories we read and the songs we sing.

Russian Gets Job
Strangely enough, it is a Russian contractor who has obtained the job of turning the River Jordan into a commercial proposition. His was considered the best bid. He was backed by the Zionist organization and the Palestine Government awarded the contract to him. This did not suffice, however, as Palestine is under British protection, and before the work could be started it was necessary for the British Parliament to investigate.

This has been completed and now the picks and shovels are cutting into the sacred banks of the River Jordan, and within a comparatively short time its waters will be turning the wheels of trade instead of float-

POLICE FORCE IN EVANSTON

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 31.—Correct speech is the requisite for a job on the Evanston police force.

In some police departments deeds of daring by members of the force, spectacular captures, devotion to duty at cost of life are eulogized by the medals, decorations and pictures on the walls.

Not so in Evanston. Here, Noah Webster is the patron saint, the ruling hand which guides and leads the "coppers," from Chief Leggett to Patrolman Jan Iskovitz. Education is the thing!

The dictionary study order was promulgated by Chief Leggett in order to increase efficiency on the force.

A number of police of foreign descent had been added to the rolls and desk men and citizens complained their speech was so incorrect and so slovenly it was almost impossible to understand them.

Now the "coppers" are so far advanced in the study of the dictionary that they are able to understand the force.

"So the world moves forward," says the engineer. "There's nothing sacred to commerce," says the preacher. "Brutal materialism," says the poet.

vanced the desk sergeant has to place a dictionary at his side in order to understand the charges for arrests.

For instance: "A still isn't a still any more, a dip isn't a dip, a stick-up isn't a stick-up, a second-story man isn't a crook—they're all seven syllable something," complained Desk Sergeant Paasch as he looked up "uxoricide" in the dictionary.

Officer Moriarty has just reported a man guilty of uxoricide over on Sheridan road.

"I wish I knew whether he means uxoricide or taking exercise," Paasch remarked as he ordered the squad out.

"When every moonshiner is engaged in fractional extraction—what's a plain cop to do," he yelled.

"The dictionary is ruining the department—everything's going blooey—I mean awry."

But Webster stays, ruled Chief Leggett, and the classes in synonyms and prefixes and suffixes will meet regularly.

A year ago I advised my clients to buy their lot, and some of them did so, as well as a great many others and lots have advanced materially in price. Now the next thing to attract the attention of the average buyer is the really good orange and walnut ranches, some of which are good income producers, very complete. Some of the best groves the owner will accept house and lot as part of the price. If you want a good thing I have got it. If yours is good I can sell it.

EVENING SALUTATION

"If any little love of mine
May make a life the sweeter,
If any little care of mine
May make a friend's the fleetier,
If any lift of mine may ease
The burden of another,
God give me love and care and strength
To help my toiling brother."

AS THE TWIG IS BENT

The importance of spending more time and money in the making of citizens is emphasized in a letter received by Roland E. Dye, Orange county Boy Scout executive, from J. A. Johnston, warden of the state penitentiary at San Quentin.

This letter is being used in preliminary work for the campaign for funds for carrying on the Boy Scout work in this county during this year. It is interesting not only from that standpoint but from the standpoint of a student of sociological conditions that bring about the necessity for prisons. The Boy Scout movement is listed by Warden Johnston as one of the big avenues of endeavor by which grown-ups can make the boy of today into substantial men of tomorrow.

Warden Johnston's letter under date of January 14, reads as follows:

It gives me pleasure to comply with your request for a letter telling of the value of such training as the Boy Scouts receive as an aid to making of good citizens and the prevention of crime, for with all my heart I believe that right education and correct training, such as Boy Scouts receive, inculcates habits of industry, initiative, self-reliance, and all of the positive virtues that make good citizens, in contrast to the negative vices that so often lead boys in the wrong direction.

More than half of those in the prison are under thirty years of age; about one-third of them are under twenty-six years of age, and a great many of them—several hundred of our population here in San Quentin—are under twenty-one years of age; and when you take these figures into account in conjunction with the extreme youth of those in the Reform Schools, it is borne in on one that youth is the time of lawlessness, and that criminal tendencies assert themselves early in life. Therefore, the great importance of correct training and instilling of right ideas as to social obligations at the period in life when characters are being formed.

Here are some verses that express the thought, author unknown:

"I took a piece of plastic clay,
And idly fashioned it one day,
And as my fingers pressed it still
It moved and yielded to my will.

"I came again when days were passed,
The bit of clay was hard as steel,
The form I gave it still it bore
But I could change it now no more.

"I took a piece of living clay,
And gently formed it day by day,
And worded it with my power and art,
A young child's soft and yielding heart.

"I came again when days were gone,
It was a man I looked upon,
He still that early impress wore
And I could change it nevermore."

I have often said that the crime problem is a boy problem and that the finest prison conceivable is but a monument to neglected youth. Prevention is much easier than curing,—less difficult, less costly. It is about time we turned our attention to preventative measures such as medical and dental inspection in the schools; education that really fits for citizenship; vocational training; measures to prevent unemployment; war on habit forming drugs; strict regulation and control of the sale of fire arms. But most important the recognition of the fact that if we would spend more time and money in the making of citizens, we wouldn't have to spend so much of either in attempts at their remaking.

Sincerely yours,
J. A. JOHNSTON, Warden.

OUR NATIONAL WEAPONS

The War Department seems disposed to put the military weapons policy up to the public. Secretary Weeks is seeking primarily the opinion of the army, both officers and privates, concerning the use of air-planes, poison gas, tanks, etc., but he is urging the military men at the same time to report civilian opinion as far as they can discover it.

The army will speak clearly for itself. Civilian sentiment is a little harder to come at. It can usually be approximated, however, from a cross-section of any American community, large or small, or from a general scrutiny of the newspapers. And from either of these sources, an inquirer is likely to arrive at about the following conclusions:

The public wants as small an army and navy as possible, to save expense and avoid offense.

It wants its army to consist mainly of men trained to command in emergency, so that the small army could quickly expand and absorb a large force of recruits.

It has little confidence in battleships, and dislikes submarines.

It regards airplanes as the effective weapons of the future, on land and sea alike.

It hates poison gas, and wants no great accumulation of any kind of armament, but wants the government to be in position to manufacture poison gas, tanks and other weapons in large quantities, on short notice, as long as other nations have them.

PROTECT SUGAR BEETS

American producers of Cuban sugar are objecting strenuously to increased tariff protection for the American beet sugar industry.

They attempt to show that the present duty of $1.00 a hundred pounds is sufficient to offset the disparity between cost of production in Cuban and American fields and factories.

The fact remains that when the dollar rate was in effect prior to the emergency tariff act, American beet sugar factories were preparing to go out of business.

Naturally, Cuban producers are interested in no tariff or one as low as possible for with cheap Cuban labor they can outsell any sugar produced at American wages.

The question is, does this country wish to maintain a tariff which will give American beet sugar producers an opportunity to develop this industry and sell their product at a minimum price equal to that at which Cuban producers can lay their product down on our shores.

It is highly essential that we be not entirely dependent on foreign supplies for our sugar and to this end our American farmers who raise sugar beets and our factories which make the sugar must be protected from competition which they cannot meet at our present wage scale. Protecting the American beet sugar industry will in no way prevent Cuba from selling her product to this country for it produces the bulk of the sugar crop.

If there is merit in the idea of tariff protection to foster and encourage certain lines of American industry which need such protection, American beet sugar is one of the products which must be thus cared for, and in its protection Orange county, with its five sugar factories and its many thousands of acres of sugar beet lands, is vitally interested.

Practice at home the virtues that make for success in business, such as honesty, thrift, courtesy, and tact. If these virtues govern your actions in the home, they will be pretty sure to stay with you during business hours. Progress, like charity, begins at home.

A People On Wheels

San Diego Union

America is a region of magnificent distances. The automobile has reduced those distances to a mere series of pleasant drives. Ghosts of our great grandfathers returning to the glimpses of their native moon would marvel at our progress in speed possibilities since the old stage coach days. Even the shades of our grandfathers recalling their own wonderment at the first steam railroad would be astonished at the facility with which their twentieth century posterity gets over the ground. In the nurseries of our grandmothers' days it was the custom to suckle babies on tales of giants who traversed the earth in seven-league boots. That sort of a story would be a mere commonplace for the babes of today—most of them have "done their forty miles an hour," and not a few of them have heard their fathers relate what they said to the judge for "stepping on it" not wisely, but too hard.

Eventually everybody in the United States will own an automobile or know a hospitable friend who is generous with the privilege of his car. Automobiles registered in the United States for the year ending December 31, 1921, totaled 10,467,617. Therefore one person in every ten in this country owns an automobile. New York, as might be expected, leads all the other states with 660,446 of these vehicles. Ohio has 722,000 cars, or one car to every 7.9 persons. Pennsylvania registers 703,000. Illinois has 660,000 automobiles. It is estimated that California is ahead of Illinois with 675,000, or a car for 5.3 persons.

Heavy trucking on the state and county highways is beginning to interfere with the traffic of lighter cars in California. These trucks are cutting up the roads to such an extent that unless measures are adopted to prevent it another enormous bond issue will be necessary to repair the damage. The alternative, whatever it may be, will rest with the next legislature; but in the meantime municipal and county ordinances must deal with the evil.

It is estimated by the Boston news bureau that the time is not far distant when the total number of cars in this country will exceed 20,000,000, and that within six years the number registered will be not less than 15,000,000. At present there are one million trucks using the public highway at the public expense for the private profit of the owners of the trucks.

The net taxable income of the state on these cars is enormous, constituting as it does a new source of revenue from a new class of property. In Alabama, for instance, the personal net income for the past year was estimated at $57 per capita; in New York it was $330; in Massachusetts $283; in the District of Columbia $380; and $286 in California.

For the Lean Years

Fresno Republican

G. Harold Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange has an opportunity yesterday to do some preaching for co-operative producers' associations that will be of great benefit to the East generally. What we need in agriculture is a continuance of the policy of stabilizing. We have had injury enough to both producer and consumer through "lumpy" markets.

The principle that is being enunciated in the national agricultural gathering at Washington, of putting the farmers' business on a year-round basis, is of serious importance. Through the history of the world, the farmer has been the victim of lean years and fat years. The story of Egypt and Joseph was an early example of the value to society of stabilizing production. Egypt depended for its food on the annual overflow of the Nile. And the Nile depended for its water on the rainfall and snowfall in central Africa. Throughout the history of Egypt, the people had taken chances on that rainfall. They lived from hand to mouth, year by year. Each harvest was expected to produce enough for them to eat during the following twelve months, with some grain saved for seed. But if in any particular year, the harvest was short, the people starved for a part of the year and possibly lacked seed for the coming season. Then an administrator arose in Egypt who had the sagacity and foresight to provide ahead for short years. He laid in stocks of grain. He used arbitrary power to compel the people to prepare themselves as they never had done before. He saved, year after year, as long as there were surplus harvests. He refused to permit the people to eat up what they did not actually need, until Egypt possessed a surplus. Then came the drought, and the story goes that it lasted for seven years also. Egypt had prepared. Its food market was stabilized. It had a surplus to tide over the shortage.

In the centuries since that time, civilization has learned to insure many elements in organized society. Some are made almost entirely secure. Some are partly secure. The farmer is still the least secure. The farmer today in the San Joaquin valley who goes short because of some industrial catastrophe, may face ruin. The wheat men, meeting a series of reverses, the cotton men of the South, are victims of the failure of either themselves or of the society of which they are a part to provide for the seven lean years. There appears a very strong demand in this agricultural conference for measures that will extend the farmer's credit so that if he is thrifty and a reasonably good manager he need not live merely from crop to crop and occasionally suffer in between because of conditions over which he has no control. As a nation and an organized society we owe this to the agricultural element in our joint prosperity.

Its Funny, The Difference

"PIPPA"—WHO PASSED

Robert Browning once wrote a wonderful dramatic poem. He called it "Pippa Passes."

The story is of a little girl who wound silk in a silk-mill "the whole year round, to earn just bread and milk."

It was New Year's day at Asolo in the Trevisan. And this was to be Pippa's sole holiday of the year, in which she was to imagine herself melted into the four happiest personages of the town.

She springs out of her bed, goes to the window and watches—

"Till the whole sunrise, not to be suppressed,
Rose, reddened, and its seething breast
Flickered in bounds, grew gold, then over-flowed the world."

Said Pippa:

"Thou art my single day, God lends to heaven,
What were all earth else, with a feel of heaven,
Sole light that helps me through the year, thy sun's!"

And so the poem continues, with Pippa flitting here and there throughout the town, passing each of its various folk and seeing their happiness, envying none and "being just as great, no doubt," as they. But from her pure eyes lust and vice were veiled, while deceit and trickery seemed only echoed smiles to her.

And as she passed and sang her song, each life she touched with her presence at once became transformed!

The dissolute Sebald is conscience-struck as he hears the ragged little girl's voice:

"God's in his Heaven—All's right with the world!"

Pippa passes on—not knowing—and straightway finds the cottage where a soon-to-be Bride is being borne, and there sings one of her sweetest songs. Then passes on to where a Mother is walking with her son—and to them she sings, and again passes on till she comes to a tower in which the Monsignor is housed. And although within are curses and threats, her song beautifies the air without.

She returns to her simple, airy room.

Pippa has had a happy day. The evil and darkness within the lives of others she has not learned. Her dreams were filtered things. She undresses, and lies down to sleep with these lines upon her lips:

"All service ranks the same with God—
With God, whose puppets, best and worst,
Are we: there is no last nor first."

EVERGREENS

The trees which men call sombre—evergreens,
I do not find depressing, gloomy, sad;
But rather, trees of loyal cheerfulness,
Embodiment of all that makes life glad.

So grateful is their shade in summertime
And restful to the eye their dark, rich green;
And soothing both to body and to soul,
Their healthful odor aromatic, clean.

When other trees discard their foliage
The evergreens retain their dense attire,
And shield the thankful birds from wind and storm
When summer trees no more such trust inspire.

And then when bare, gaunt trees bring thoughts of death
As end of all our earthly stress and strife,
Triumphantly, in living garb arrayed,
The evergreens proclaim eternal life.

Great Men Live on After Death

Sacramento Bee

A few hours before his death, on October 24, 1852, Daniel Webster was heard to murmur: "I still live."

The great orator and great American was referring to the parting of his spirit and body. In a short time, all that was mortal of Webster was laid away to become dust.

But, in another and deeper sense, those words of Webster were prophetic.

His name and influence, the things worth while which he did, his great labor of love and devotion to the American Union will live on and on through endless time.

Human beings have differed widely in their beliefs as to the continuance of personality after death. But there is an immortality to be achieved whose aspects are enduring.

This is the immortality of making some definite, lasting and worthy contribution to the onward and upward progress of the human race.

Such is the immortality won by Pope Benedict XV in his efforts for world peace.

Such is the immortality won by Viscount Bryce in his contributions to the spread of democracy.

Sometimes the glory of such immortality is not known by a personal name, as in the case of those commemorated because they typify a union of effort and sacrifice by many ordinary men in a great cause.

They are of that band of heroes of whom Thucydides, the Athenian, wrote as follows, thousands of years ago:

"For this offering of their lives, made in common by them all, they each of them individually received the renown which never grows old, and, for a seapulcher, not so much that in which their bones have been deposited, but that noblest of shrines, wherein their glory is to be laid up to be eternally remembered."

"For heroes have the whole earth for their tomb; and in lands far from their own, where the column with epitaph will not declare it, there is enshrined in the breast of men an unwritten record, with no table to preserve it, except that of the heart."

Those Athenians still live. The beauty they found in life and expressed in art and in literature still delights the mind and refreshes the soul of men.

Scientists long ago discovered that energy can be destroyed.

Neither can the influences of those imperishable currents set in motion by men who followed the light never seen on land or sea.

CHAPTER 256
TOMMY SMITH LOSES HIS COAT-TAIL

By Harvey Elliott

Willie Whiskers was getting the fastest ride of his life, but he didn't get in the least excited. He acted as if it was a very ordinary event, hardly worth mentioning. He watched Old Gawk and Barney as they kicked dirt into the air, and he didn't know that they were running away. But even that began to get monotonous to Willie.

Tommy Smith had forgotten all about Willie Whiskers, he was so busy sucking on the lines. Willie thought every minute that they would upset in the ditch. But Old Gawk didn't want to get hurt any more than Tommy did, so he kept right on the road where the running was good.

The jolting of the wagon made Willie's teeth chatter so that he wished he had something to chew. The juiciest thing he could see was Tommy's coat tail. As Tommy leaned back on the lines, the tail of his coat flew back where Willie could reach it. The Goat started in on the coat tail and seemed to like it. He chewed and chewed on the coat while Tommy pulled and pulled on the lines.

Willie Whiskers had most of the coat tail chewed off when Old Gawk stumbled. The extra jerk broke one of the lines on which Tommy was pulling and let him sit down. Well, when Tommy sat down he landed on top of the Goat. So far, Willie Whiskers had kept in a very good humor. But he couldn't see any reason why Tommy should jump on top of him like that.

Willie Whiskers immediately lost his temper as surely as Tommy had lost his coat tail. "If that two-legged fellow thinks he can sit on me," thought Willie, "he might as well learn one time as another that here is one Goat that won't stand for any such thing."

Willie, without ever stopping to chew on his mouthful of coat tail, backed up to the end of his rope and started for Tommy just as he was about half way up on his feet.

Episcopal.

Willie hit Tommy Smith on the place where his coat tail ought to have been and boosted him clear over the dash-board and in the next instant Tommy landed on Gawk's mule's back. Well, that didn't help matters much. It was the first time any man had ever been on Old Gawk's back.

Tommy Smith hung to the harness and decided he was about as safe there as he would be in the wagon with the Goat. So he just held on. Barney and Old Gawk were about run down. They couldn't hold on much longer. Gawk never did like to hurt himself, so he slowed down to a walk and they took it easy the rest of the way home.

It was a strange sight for Father and Mother Smith to see the team and wagon turning into the barn lot with Tommy riding on the back of a frisking mule that had never before been ridden by man.

A Fatal Disease

"Printing and paper are so dear in Russia," said Theodore Dreiser, the novelist at a Greenwich Village luncheon, "that Russian writers, instead of publishing their works, read them aloud in public halls. I suppose we'll be coming to that some day."

"For authors are now in a bad way. The cost of production is too high for them. The average printer who sets up an author's book makes ever so much more money than the author himself does."

"Two women were talking the other day over their cigarettes and tea."

"So your brother is a writer?"

Fancy! said the first woman.

"Yes, George writes," the second woman answered with a yawn.

"How jolly! And what does he write for?" went on the first with a yawn.

"Dear knows! And the second woman yawned again. I suppose it's a disease."

up far enuff and the diffrent things that libel to happen to you in case you do, and last nite it got cold. Everything and started to get even colder and I only put my window up about a inch and a half wen I went to bed, and all of a suddin I wook up, thinking, Holey smokes I forgot all about ventilation, G wizz.

And I quick jumped up and opened the window as far as it would go, thinking, G, I wonder if pop and ma have got their spurs, they're libel to get sick if they haven't.

And I went down to their room and they was both asleep and one window was only up a little and the other one wasent up at all, mo thinking, Good nite, I just came down in time. Washington Organ

If church organs could talk there is one at the National museum that could settle the question whether or not George Washington napped through Sunday sermons in Christ church. The decision could be strictly relied on, for the reason that the organ was there at the time.

Unfortunately for history, the tall and somewhat grandfather-clockish instrument is dumb in every key of its five octaves, though its dim mahogany and tarnished gilt speak for the prosperity of our ancestors, two centuries back, who could afford to import luxuries.

The George Washington organ was brought from England in 1700, but was not placed in the Alexandria edifice until it had served in the choir of a church in another part of Virginia. After an uncertain stay in Christ church its adventures took it to Sheperdstown, and later to Hancock, Md., where it remained until the vestry gave it to the museum.—Nannie Lancaster in the Washington Star.

City of London proper, bounded by municipal and parliamentary lines, is not a dwelling place, but a vast market.
